South Pass, located on the Continental Divide in Wyoming. To the emigrants of the 1840's and 1850's, it signified their entrance into the Oregon country.

National Park Service Photograph, October, 1958

35

South Pass, "Gateway of the Rockies," in Wyoming. A painting by William H. Jackson.