A black and white photograph of a stone mausoleum. The structure is rectangular with a textured stone surface. It features a central double door with glass panels. On either side of the door is a cross mounted on a vertical stone pillar. The cross on the right has a decorative floral base. The name 'ROMITI' is inscribed on a plaque below the right cross. The left cross has an inscription below it. The mausoleum is set outdoors with trees and bushes in the background.
