1. Name: DOWNTOWN ROSWELL HISTORIC DISTRICT

2. Location: The boundaries of the district are roughly Richardson Avenue on the east; Albuquerque Street on the south; Missouri Avenue on the west and Eighth Street on the north. [see Boundary Description for detailed boundaries]

4. Owner: Multiple

7. Description:

DOWNTOWN DISTRICT

Physical Description:

The Downtown District is located directly west of what is commonly considered to be downtown Roswell. It is comprised of about 38 city blocks and 433 different properties of primarily residential nature. The district is divided into two logical halves by a strip of east to west commercial development along West Second Street. This development is relatively recent in nature spurred by the widening of the street to accommodate its use as part of the Federal Highway system (US 70 and US 380) While some non-residential development always existed on this street the entire proposed district was always residential in nature. The area was and is today perceived by the residents as one area rather than two separate areas.

The proposed district is composed of parts of four original subdivisions filed in Roswell from 1887 to 1899. It became the prestige residential area during the period of Roswell's first initial growth as a commercial and ranching center. This growth occurred primarily from the mid 1890's to about 1930. The boundaries were carefully chosen to represent this period of Roswell's growth (see Boundary Justification).

The architectural character and interest of the area results from the variety of styles, forms and quality of execution. The architecture reflects a natural stratification of economic levels existing during this period, including the well-designed homes of the well-to-do, the more modest homes of the middle-class and even early examples of multi-family apartment dwellings. It consists of 433 structures the vast majority residential in nature. Less than 1% of the structures were built prior to 1900; about 21% were built from 1900-1910; 42% built from 1910-1920;

14% from 1920-1930 and 10% from 1930-1945 and less than 1% after 1945 (about 12% had no dates available). At least 22 separate styles are represented in this district reflecting a microcosm of the residential trends in the late nineteenth and early twentieth century in the United States. There is no record that any of the homes were designed by architects. However many show a sophistication in design and implementation that suggest professional assistance. The types and frequency of the styles are shown on Exhibit 1.

There is throughout the district similar development patterns including a gridiron platting with a rear access alley. Most of the structures face either east or west. The area is characterized by broad streets with a landscape buffer in the right-of-way between the street and the sidewalk. This area is occupied for the most part by mature landscaping that gives the area a visual unity and coherence. There are also several instances of landscaping medians in the center of the roadway giving a boulevard appearance.
