A black and white photograph of a grand, multi-story brick building, identified as the Waseca County Court House. The building features a prominent central gable with a pointed roof and decorative finials. Below the gable, there are two large, multi-paned windows. The second floor has a series of smaller windows, and a decorative cornice with a repeating pattern of rounded elements runs along the top of this floor. The ground floor is characterized by three large, arched openings, each supported by a thick, square column. Above these arches, the words "WASECA COUNTY" and "COURT HOUSE" are inscribed in a serif font. The building is surrounded by mature trees, and a paved walkway leads to the entrance steps.
