9. Historical significance (include explanation of themes checked above)

This well-preserved Federal Period house is both a good example of a house type common to rural New England in the late 18th and early 19th century, and is linked to an important Taunton family, the Lincolns.

The house forms part of a small residential cluster in North Taunton, organized around the North Taunton Baptist Church, in what is otherwise a rural area. Ambrose Lincoln, Jr., a farmer, built the residence in c. 1775, shortly after his marriage.

The structure remained in the Lincoln family until 1919, when it was sold to William Austin.

Description: The Federal I-house is 2 stories and has a hipped roof. Its 5-bay facade is entered through a central door (partially altered) with louvered fanlight set in a keystone, molded surround. 6/6 sash windows have plain wood trim. The structure features interior end chimneys.

The Ambrose Lincoln House possesses integrity of design, location, setting, materials, workmanship and association. It meets criterion C of the National Register of National Places as a locally important architectural example of its type and period which reflects late 18th century settlement of the outlying North Taunton area.

Boundaries conform to current lot lines.
