A black and white photograph of a multi-story brick building. The building features a prominent sign on the second floor that reads "THE CORNERSTONE". The sign is set within a light-colored rectangular frame. Above the sign, there are two large windows, each with a decorative metal balcony railing. Below the sign, there are three windows on the third floor and three windows on the ground floor. The building is constructed of dark brick with light-colored mortar. A utility wire runs across the foreground, and another building is visible to the right.
