DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Roth - Rosenzweig - Lambert Residence is of two-story frame construction erected in 1894. It was identified by David Gibson, of the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville School of Architecture, as Queen Anne Victorian style of architecture, typical of the period. The house has a round porch extending around the south (front) and west sides supported by Tuscan type columns. A small gable over the front entrance is decorated with an elaborate ornamentation. The 42 inch front door has a large beveled glass light in it with a transome above the door opening. The cupola is decorated with wood shingles shaped in rounded, square and diamond forms. The shingles are placed in a variety of designs on the sides of the cupola. The front gable is adorned with shingles in the same manner. In the center of the gable is a round top attic window with two sidelights. The cornices of the house are enclosed.

Upon entering the front door the attention of a visitor is first attracted to a carved oak staircase with fancy carved newel posts. To the left of the entrance is a round room formed by the cupola which was used as a library when the Rosenzweigs lived in the house. On the right of the entrance hall is a large living room with a fireplace having a carved oak mantel. The living room is separated from the entrance hall by double pocket doors. The dining room adjoining the living room has a built-in china cabinet with beveled glass doors. With the exception of adding closets to the two bedrooms on the east side of the house, the upstairs is in much the same condition as when the house was built. To add the closet, Pearson had the woodwork and trim removed and replaced so as to appear that it had not been disturbed. The round cupola room on the second floor was used as a children's bedroom and has a walk-in closet built by the Rosenzweigs.

Due to Pearson's restoration, this house is in excellent condition and is an outstanding example of architecture of its period. it is part of the block Pearson was attempting to restore at the time of his death.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Roth - Rosenzweig - Lambert House is an excellent example of the Queen Anne Victorian style of architecture so predominant in Pine Bluff during the 1890s. The house is located on Lot Five of Block 32 of William E. Woodruff's Addition to Pine Bluff. Louis and Gertie L. Roth acquired the property from W. P. Grace on July 18, 1894. Roth let a contract to W. S. Helton, a Pine Bluff contractor, "for a fine two-story frame residence" on August 4, 1894, at a cost of about $4,000, the Pine Bluff Graphic said on August 6, 1894. Roth was a large land-owner and also one of Pine Bluff's more prominent cotton factors during the 1890s and early 1900s. On September 5, 1910 the Roths sold the home to William Rosenzweig who owned one of the city's largest department stores located at Third Avenue and Main Street. In 1970, after the elder Rosenzweig had died, their daughter, Irene, sold the house to Ben Pearson. In 1970 and 1971 Pearson undertook an extensive restoration of the residence. He sand-blasted the old paint ~~from the exterior walls~~ from the exterior walls and put on a wood shake roof to resemble the original shingle roof. Inside, the original pine and cypress woodwork was re-finished to preserve its old look. The gas lighting fixtures, which had been converted to electricity, were removed and sent to Little Rock for complete restoration.

The house was sold by Pearson to Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Lambert who have painted the trim in a light green to contrast with the white walls in the manner of many of the old Victorian style homes. This house is in excellent condition and is a contribution to the heritage of the community and state.
