7. Description

This 23.9 mile section of state maintained Route 66 serves as a frontage and local road along Interstate 40 from the eastern edge of San Jon to the eastern edge of Tucumcari. Generally following what, prior to 1926, was known as the Ozark Trail and, after 1926, Route 66, the alignment received a hard surface in 1933 under FAP 127. During the early 1950s further improvements were made on the road including the addition of steel beam bridges over Plaza Largo and Revuelto Creeks and numerous concrete box and pipe culverts. The road was also widened to four lanes through San Jon, as discussed in the Multiple Property listing. Coursing across the rangelands and irrigated farmlands of eastern Quay County, this portion of Route 66 is largely unaltered beyond normal road maintenance and conveys a strong feeling of travel along Route 66 during the period of significance. Brown and white signs denoting "Historic Route 66" have recently been erected by the New Mexico State Highway and Transportation Department along the roadside.

Heading west, the road section passes through San Jon where it was widened in the early 1950s. Commercial buildings, many now vacant, recall earlier roadside businesses supported by Route 66 travellers. West of San Jon, the road diverges from I-40, crossing rangeland well-removed from the modern highway. Concrete box culverts and fill carry the road across small arroyos. Sandstone outcroppings mark the drainage of Plaza Largo and Revuelto Creeks with the pre-1933 alignment of the road visible fifty yards to the south. West of the drainage the road parallels I-40, passing beneath two overpasses. In the distance to the south and west the Caprock and Mt. Tucumcari offer vistas of the increasingly rugged terrain awaiting the westbound motorist. As the road approaches Tucumcari, canals and irrigated fields marking the Arch Hurley Irrigation District lie to the south. Although I-40 closely parallels portions of this section of Route 66, causing a slight deviation from the original alignment for less than a quarter mile at one overpass, the

8. Significance

Designated as State Highway 3 in 1914 and a part of the Ozark Trail, a regional road association that preceded the creation of the federal highway system in 1926, the road from San Jon to Tucumcari underwent improvements and slight realignments in the late 1920s and early 1930s. These improvements were funded under FAP 127 and resulted, in 1933, with the hard surfacing of the present alignment. In the early 1950s, the alignment was slightly altered as the road was widened through San Jon and two concrete and steel beam bridges replaced earlier timber bridges. This section of state-maintained Route 66 is significant for its association with the rise of automobile tourism in New Mexico and thus is eligible under Criterion A.
