9. Historical significance (include explanation of themes checked above)

This large-scaled Mansard house features bold, Italianate details in its justified quoins, bracketed cornice and period porches and retains original wrought-iron roof cresting. It is among the best-preserved Mansard houses in the City.

The structure is believed to have been built in c. 1880 for J.C. Bartlett, a prosperous mining engineer, whose contribution to Taunton's late 19th century industrial development (if any) is not known at this writing (9/79). The house's proximity to other large estates along Winthrop Street, owned by prominent industrialists, politicians and businessmen, does, however, suggest that Bartlett was a person of some stature in the community.

Description: Exhibiting a square plan, with 2 full stories and Mansard roof, the house features elongated 4/1 windows, trimmed by entablatures with feet. The central entrance has a transom and is shielded by an entrance porch with paired fluted Ionic columns supporting a full Ionic entablature. The boxed cornice is inset with heavy, paired brackets. The roof is broken by dormers and is trimmed by cast iron cresting that surrounds its upper deck.

Community: TAUNTON	Form No: 244
Property Name: J.C. BARTLETT ESTATE

Indicate each item on inventory form which is being continued below.

9. Historical Significance (continued)

The J.C. Bartlett Estate is a significant example of mansard architecture and is also a very well developed and sophisticated example of that style in Taunton. The J. C. Bartlett Estate possesses integrity of location, design, setting, materials, workmanship and association. It meets criteria A and C of the National Register of Historic Places as an example of the type of house, carefully designed in one of the popular styles by Taunton's more affluent population during the City's height of prosperity.

Boundaries conform to current lot lines.
