(Describe the historic and current physical appearance and condition of the property. Describe contributing and noncontributing resources if applicable. Begin with a summary paragraph that briefly describes the general characteristics of the property, such as its location, type, style, method of construction, setting, size, and significant features. Indicate whether the property has historic integrity.)

Summary Paragraph

Located on a corner, in the Capitol Complex vicinity, the Kelley Club faces west onto North Kelley Avenue. South of the building is commercial buildings while north, east and west are residential neighborhoods. The one-story brick clad building is modest in design and has minimal ornamentation. The building has a large parking area with streetscapes. The building maintains a high degree of architectural integrity.

Narrative Description

The façade, west elevation, has a central entry accessed via two steps. The patio is surrounded by a knee high brick planter with stone end caps. The only opening in the brick planter is two steps leading to the main entrance. The entry has two wood pane and panel doors. The doors each have a nine-pane fixed window. Above the door and two-thirds of the patio is a metal canopy with a “KELLEY CLUB” sign. Above the canopy are two round stone ornamental details. The brick wall is capped with stone coping. Located on either side of the entry are two nine-over-nine double hung wood windows with stone stills.

The south elevation has a central entry accessed via one step. The patio is surrounded by a knee high brick planter with stone end caps. The only opening in the brick planter is two steps leading to the larger entrance on this elevation. The entry has two wood pane and panel doors. The doors each have a nine-pane fixed window. Above the door and two-thirds of the patio is a metal canopy. Above the canopy are two round stone ornamental details. The brick wall is capped with stone coping. Located on either side of the entry is a pair of two nine-over-nine double hung wood windows with stone stills.

Located at the southeast corner of the south elevation is a shorter one-story wing. It has a single step leading to the pane and panel door at the northwest, inside, corner of the north elevation. The window in the door is nine-pane. Two narrow columns that end at short brick knee walls support a metal canopy over the entry. There is a nine-over-nine double hung window at the northwest corner. The upper sash has been covered and now has a small square vent. This shorter one-story wing was purposely built around the original back door which is the threshold thousands of alcoholics have crossed over.

The east elevation has an air conditioner in the first window opening (intentional) and a nine-over-nine double hung window with stone sill in the smaller one-story wing at the northeast corner. The remainder of the east elevation has a panel door and six small sliding windows with stone sills.

The north elevation has two pairs of two, nine-over-nine double hung wood windows. As with all other elevations, the north elevation has a stone coping.

Interior:

The interior is divided into four main rooms: assembly hall (large open space), kitchen, game room and office. Historically, the room at the south end of the building was the drying out room where Alcoholic Anonymous members detoxed drunks before treatment centers were available.

Landscaping:

The south and west elevations, which face the streets, are devoid of public sidewalks. The only sidewalks are those that lead to an entry door on the Kelley Club Property. The west elevation has plantings in the brick planters and along the building face. The south elevation has plantings in the brick planters and along the building face. The east and north elevations have a parking lot.

Integrity:

While the windows on the east elevation have been changed, the east elevation is the rear facing elevation and therefore has little impact on the overall integrity of the resource. The Kelley Club maintains excellent architectural integrity.

Statement of Significance Summary Paragraph (Provide a summary paragraph that includes level of significance, applicable criteria, justification for the period of significance, and any applicable criteria considerations.)

Kelley Club is significant under Criteria A at the local level for its association with Alcoholics Anonymous (AA), the group whose mission is to assist alcoholics in finding and maintaining sobriety. The Oklahoma City Group of AA, the first AA group to form in Oklahoma, started in September of 1941 but began its new life in the Kelley Club in June of 1946. Through its Twelve Step program, AA has enabled, and continues to enable, Oklahomans to achieve and sustain permanent sobriety. Because AA has had an extraordinarily significant impact on the residents of Oklahoma City as well as the treatment and understanding of alcoholism, the property is locally significant under Social History.

Narrative Statement of Significance (Provide at least one paragraph for each area of significance.)

The 1900's saw a rise in self-help groups. They were volunteer organizations, mainly composed of peers, coming together for help and support regarding a life-disrupting problem. Most of these organizations emerged after World War II and were a reaction against the growing medical and scientific community. AA, founded in 1935, served as a prototype for self-help groups. The Twelve Step program, which was developed by AA co-founders, Bill Wilson and Dr. Bob Smith, became such a staple of American lexicon that is no longer associated with just alcoholism. AA is a reflection of American popular culture where it prioritizes the power of the individual and the ideas of rationalism and control.

Bill Wilson and Bob Smith, the co-founders of AA, saw AA as a community in which members seek to control their alcoholism through honesty, service and a reliance on a Power greater than oneself. Bill Wilson split from the Oxford Group, a religious movement popular in the United States and Europe in the early 20th century that practiced a formula of self-improvement by performing self-inventory, admitting wrongs, making amends, using prayer and meditation, and carrying the message to others but focusing on the Christian theology of God. After coming together, Wilson and Smith worked these basic principles into AA's Twelve Step program, with a vaguer and more palatable idea of a "higher power," and then developed a program where those suffering from alcoholism partnered with and assisted others suffering from alcoholism. Since its founding, millions from all over the world identify themselves as AA members. AA emphasized anonymity in membership; it is a cornerstone of membership.²

² Many might hesitate to turn to A.A. for help if they thought their problem might be discussed publicly, even inadvertently, by others. Newcomers to AA should be able to seek help with assurance that their identities will not be disclosed to anyone outside the fellowship of AA. The concept of personal anonymity has a spiritual significance for AA — it discourages the drives for personal recognition, power, prestige, or profit that have caused difficulties in some societies. Much of the relative effectiveness in working with alcoholics might be impaired if members sought or accepted public recognition.

To promote the ideas of AA, Bill Wilson anonymously authored four books: Alcoholics Anonymous (1939) also called “The Big Book”, Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions (1953), Alcoholics Anonymous Comes of Age (1957) and As Bill Sees It: The AA Way of Life (1967). Alcoholics Anonymous, known as the Big Book, included the Twelve Steps and numerous autobiographical stories submitted by recovering alcoholics. Today, AA groups still use all of these books.

Both the history and mission of AA have sparked ongoing debates and discussions among medical professionals, historians, sociologists, psychologists, addicts and laypeople as to the nature of alcoholism and the power of self-help organizations. The organization’s peculiar position as a secular organization with a religious tinge has also put it at the center of debates and discussions about the nature of the organization, the roots of its success and the ways in which government or public institutions can collaborate with quasi-religious groups.

Oklahoma City

Dr. Coyne Campbell aided many Oklahoma City alcoholics at the Coyne Campbell Sanatorium, where he worked to detox the individual³. Alcoholism held a serious stigma and not many were trained or capable of helping the alcoholic in the medical world; the Coyne Campbell Sanatorium fit a need at a time when few would or could help. In March of 1941, an article titled “Alcoholics Anonymous: Freed Slaves of Drink, Now They Free Others,” written by Jack Alexander, was published in the Saturday Evening Post. People throughout the country read the article and realized, with great relief, that there may be help for their loved ones outside of the local hospital or sanatorium. Harry A’s wife (from Oklahoma City) contacted the main office in New York and asked for help for her husband. Johnny P., a traveling candy-salesman and AA member, came to Oklahoma City to meet with Harry A. (who had since separated from his wife). The first Oklahoma Group formed in September of 1941 when the first formal meeting was held at the downtown Biltmore Hotel. In that same month, the Oklahoma City AA Group (as it became known) ran an advertisement in the local newspaper and secured a post office box.⁴ By 1942, they had rented a location for their meetings on Northwest 42nd Street; by years end the membership totaled 43. By July of 1945, Alcoholics Anonymous, Inc. of Oklahoma City was incorporated. After losing the lease at VZDs, the Oklahoma City AA Group broke into eight smaller groups, holding meeting at residences until the new, bigger building was constructed at Kelley. By December of 1945, there were 196 members.

With the establishment of a centralized system for contacting the Oklahoma AA, through a post office box and telephone number, the citizenry of Oklahoma finally found the help they needed. Either by word of mouth or through the newspaper advertisements, the Oklahoma City AA Group would be contacted by someone in need of assistance (either the person themselves or a family member). Once identified, a select number of members from the Oklahoma City AA group were dispatched to that community to meet with the person and help organize another AA group. Also, Oklahomans could contact this main post office box or telephone number to request a Big Book. Countless numbers of AA groups exist in Oklahoma because Harry A's wife in Oklahoma City contacted New York. Although the group remained very much a grassroots organization, it received support in Oklahoma City from J.J. C. who donated the land for the Kelley Club since AA had been so instrumental to his son's sobriety.

By June of 1946, the Kelley Club opened for the Oklahoma City Group. With the opening of the larger facility, the eight home meetings became the Monday Night Mixed Group (women and blacks), Tuesday Night Men's Group and the Friday night open meeting⁵. After being long established in the community, new meetings were added such as the Young People's Group, Tuesday Night Women's Group, Wednesday Night Mixed Group, etc. The new facility also served meals and hosted entertainment for the members. Ultimately, the Kelley Club would come to over the years, thousands of members being drawn from a variety of socio-economic backgrounds.

The Kelley Club, unlike many other AA meeting places in Oklahoma, had a drying out room for alcoholics. In this room was a bed, chairs and bucket. A person in the process of drying out could come to the Kelley Club and stay in this room while other members of the Kelley Club helped them through the drying out process. Family members who were used to this process were also welcome and often times would sit in the common area playing cards, eating meals or visiting.

As an organization, Alcoholics Anonymous in Oklahoma City traces its roots to meetings that occurred at the Biltmore Hotel in 1941 (non-extant), Coyne Campbell Sanatorium (non-extant), VZD in 1942 (altered), and member's homes from 1945 until the Kelley Club was completed in 1946. The Kelley Club is the best site to represent and illustrate the growth of Alcoholics Anonymous in Oklahoma City. The other sites, many of which are non-extant, may be associated with AA but do not have the ability to convey the story of AA in Oklahoma City to the same degree that Kelley Club does.

The role of the Kelley Club on Oklahoma City is immeasurable. The Twelve Steps are the most successful means of treating alcoholism and are the central treatment program in most hospitals, treatment centers and clinics. From the intimate conversations at the Kelley Club to the "kinship of common suffering," the Kelley Club of Oklahoma City provided a simple formula that enabled alcoholics in the City to achieve a degree of longevity and effectiveness unmatched by previous efforts to address alcoholism.⁶

⁵ Initially, the Friday night group was an opening meeting used to educate the public on issues regarding Alcoholics Anonymous. These meetings were so highly attended that they would be moved to larger facilities, such as the Municipal Auditorium.

⁶ Many of the members of the Kelley Club refer to it as "the oldest clubhouse for AA meetings west of the Mississippi."

RE: Nomination of the Kelley Club
 2300 N. Kelley Avenue, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma
 for the National Register of Historic Places

Dear Ms. Shull:

It has been my pleasure to help in a small way in the preparation of the nomination of the Kelley Club for listing on the National Register of Historic Places. Our application (nomination) has been approved at city level, at the State level (Oklahoma Historic Preservation Review Committee on July 17th) and has now been forwarded to you for your consideration.

I believe as you review our nomination you will find that the Kelley Club, although it has no architectural historical significance, has from a social perspective had a significant role in assisting alcoholics in finding and maintaining sobriety in Oklahoma. The Oklahoma City Group of Alcoholics Anonymous started holding meetings at the Kelley Club in June, 1946, and many of those early members of that group were directly responsible for the creation of many other A.A. groups in Oklahoma and even in States surrounding Oklahoma. Therefore, I would like to encourage you to list the Kelley Club in the National Register of Historic Places.

Thank you so much for considering our nomination.

Very sincerely yours,

Anita Slocum

RE: Listing of the Kelley Club in the National Register of Historic Places

Dear Ms. Shull:

On July 17, 2014, the National Register of Historic Places nomination for the Kelley Club, located at 2300 North Kelley Avenue in Oklahoma City, was presented to the Oklahoma Historic Preservation Review Committee for consideration and was approved at that level.

I currently have the honor of being the President of the Board of Directors for the Kelley Club and would like to thank you for considering this nomination. The members of the Kelley Club would very much appreciate your approval to list the Kelley Club in the National Register of Historic Places.

The Kelley Club has served a major role in assisting alcoholics in finding and maintaining sobriety in Oklahoma City since June, 1946. There are still approximately 4 meetings a day held at the Kelley Club.

Thank you for your consideration of the nomination of our Kelley Club.

Sincerely,

Dick Carroll
Chairman
Board of Directors

RE: Listing of the Kelley Club
2300 N. Kelley Avenue, Oklahoma City, OK
in the National Register of Historic Places

Dear Ms. Shull:

As the current Archivist for Alcoholics Anonymous for the State of Oklahoma, I am very pleased that this nomination for the Kelley Club to be listed on the National Register of Historic Places is being considered. The homes of the two (2) founders of Alcoholics Anonymous (Stepping Stones in New York and Dr. Bob Smith's home in Akron, Ohio) have previously been listed.

It is my understanding that the nomination was approved at the State level on July 17, 2014, by the Oklahoma Historic Preservation Review Committee and that they have forwarded it to you.

We have a large collection of archives at our State Office for Alcoholics Anonymous in Oklahoma City, much of which was collected through members of the Kelley Club. I will be happy to answer any questions you may have about the Kelley Club and its social significance for Alcoholics Anonymous in the State of Oklahoma.

Sincerely,

Mark McConnell

In Re: Kelly Club, 2300 North Kelly Avenue
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma

Gentlemen:

It has recently come to my attention that the Kelly Club has been nominated to be included on the National Register of Historic Places. The Kelly Club is located at 2300 North Kelly Avenue in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma and has been at this location since 1946.

The Kelly Club has been the center of activity for the fellowship of Alcoholics Anonymous since 1946.

The Kelly Club has also been responsible for the introduction to the program of Alcoholics Anonymous for thousands of people throughout Oklahoma and the United States.

Many AA Groups have been formed as a result of attendance at the Kelly Club where they became acquainted with the AA steps and traditions which permitted new groups to form and new locations for Alcoholics Anonymous meetings were began all over Oklahoma as well as the Southwest region of the United States.

The Kelly Club has continued without interruption its message of recovery through Alcoholics Anonymous since 1946. Daily meetings have provided thousands of people an opportunity to arrest their condition of alcoholism and to provide a new sober way of life.

I would strongly recommend that the Kelly Club be placed on the National Register of Historic Places because of the influence it has generated in the lives of thousands of people who have been released from the problems of acute alcoholism.

I know of no other location or area of Alcoholics Anonymous club house that has provided a greater role in assisting alcoholics in finding their way to sobriety than those who attend meetings at the Kelly Club in Oklahoma City.

Yours very truly,
