DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Oakleigh Garden Historic District, located close to the Central Business District of Mobile, encompasses 10 blocks of Government Street, the main east-west thoroughfare of the city, and extends two blocks to the north and 6 blocks to the south of this street.

The district is primarily a Victorian neighborhood, with residences making up the majority of the buildings. In addition to the fine examples of East Lake Victorian architecture, are outstanding buildings of raised "creole" cottage, Federal, Greek Revival and Carpenter Gothic architecture. Qakleigh, from which the district takes its name, is the best example of T-shaped raised-cottage architecture in the state.

A major focal point for the district is Washington Square, a treeshaded promenade, surrounded by carefully restored homes, and illuminated with gas lights.

Following a period of several years of deterioration, many of the homes have now been restored to their original beauty and have been given architectural awards by the Historic Mobile Preservation Society. Others have been adapted for apartments or businesses with approval from the Architectural Review Board.

The Oakleigh Garden District is the only one of the three historic districts in the city of Mobile to have retained its predominantly residential character. Through architectural protection, preservationists in the city hope to prevent commercial intrusion and to make urban living desirable near the center of the city.

The area contains numerous buildings of historic and architectural significance which reflect the 19th century history of Mobile. Nineteen of the buildings have received plaques from the Mobile Historic Development Commission which deemed them architecturally significant to the city, and three of the houses have been listed on the Historic American Buildings Survey. The houses listed on the H. A. B. S. are the Hellen-Croom Home, 1860, the Ludlow Home, 1863, and Oakleigh, 1833, which is also listed in the National Register.

Originally the area encompassed by the district was part of a Spanish Land Grant owned by Simon Farve, an interpreter to the Indians. In 1831 James W. Roper purchased a portion of this land and built Oakleigh, one of the city's finest homes. Another portion of this land was bought by Archibald Gordon, a prominent businessman who subdivided the area. In 1850 he conveyed to the City of Mobile all the streets running both ways through the Western division of his tract. Square number 47 was deeded to the city "forever to be used as a public promenade," and was named Washington Square. There have been few alterations to this plan and most of the homes built in the area in the 1850's still remain.

An architectural review board rules on construction and demolition matters in an effort to preserve and create a distinctively recognizable character within the historic districts. The Historic Development Commission promotes and encourages preservation, restoration, and homogenous development with the historic districts through education, acquisition, sales, and sponsoring of public and private preservation oriented programs.
