STATEMENT

The Schroeder Meat Market is a charming and unusual little commercial block that retains a high degree of integrity. It is appropriately designed for its site, with a shop entrance and large oriel at the corner. The shopfront, which is of cast iron, is largely intact. Few elements are treated simply, for example, use of both metal cornices and polychrome relieving arches over 2nd story windows. Decorative panels above oriel windows are recalled with variation in the roof balustrade. In sum, the market's lively character and prominent location make it a decidedly positive element in the neighborhood landscape.
