ľ	The house is essentially a frame structure containing eighteen rooms, some on an upstairs split level. It has a three-story tower. Architectural style follows the Richardsonian characteristics of shingling massiveness and irregular spacing found in many late 19th Century homes.
k	massiveness and integular spacing round in many race is in beneary nomes.
	Construction took place over a period of several years beginning in 1882 in the form of a claim chanty. Evidently on Majon Dicklon procoord in the form of a claim shanty. Evidently as Major Pickler prospered, his house grew, but it is improbable that more than two major additions were made due to the split level, single beam construction supporting one whole wing of the house. Exact dates of construction have not been found.
	Some of the original furniture, most of the books, and some of the pictures owned by Major Pickler are still inside. 🚤

	Note A. (See Item 4., first page.)
	In 1932, the Pickler residence was inherited by Alice Frad (Carkuff), Lois Frad (Bull), and William A. Frad, all grandchildren of Alice and John Pickler. To facilitate possible restoration, William Frad deeded his 1/3 Pickier. To ideitide possible rescondention, withiam trad decided his 175 to Alice Frad (Carkuff). Mrs. Bull will also cede her portion to Mrs.
	Carkuff if restoration is accomplished. Her address is 1110 N. Lincoln, Aberdeen, SD.
	Mrs. Carkuff has the only monetary investment in the premises and is able to furnish all tax receipts and checks for taxes and repairs back to 1932.
