#2 Nettleton - Mead House

Weld Co., CO

A black and white photograph of a house's front entrance. The house features a prominent porch with decorative columns and a central door. The address number '1303' is mounted on a dark horizontal band above the door. The porch has a railing, and there are some plants visible in the foreground. The house has horizontal siding. The door is a double-hung style with a transom window above it. The porch columns are square with decorative fluting. The overall style is reminiscent of early 20th-century architecture.
