Summary Paragraph

The Monday Club of San Luis Obispo designed by San Francisco architect Julia Morgan and constructed by prominent local builder James Jepson, has been a vital and enduring presence in the cultural and civic life of San Luis Obispo from its original occupation in 1934 through the present day.

The clubhouse was originally built for and has remained the headquarters of The Monday Club, formed in 1925 by a dynamic group of civic-minded women, and federated with State and District Women’s organizations in 1926. The enduring mission of the Club is to preserve and restore the historical landmark known as The Monday Club of San Luis Obispo and enhance the educational, civic, social and cultural quality of the San Luis Obispo community.

The clubhouse is wood frame, clad in stucco with terra cotta roof tile. The design is predominately Spanish Colonial Revival but also incorporates California Mediterranean and Classical architectural elements. In the interior the walls are smooth plaster over lath, with original oak hardwood floors in herringbone and linear patterns. The interior plan is a cross shape consisting of a projecting vestibule leading to one Assembly Room flanked by two large Anterooms, one forming a Lobby with two Dressing Rooms and Lavatories, the other forming the Sun Room and Kitchen. The Assembly Room’s focal point remains its large platform stage, still used for concerts, plays and public gatherings. Well maintained and in excellent condition, the building has historic integrity with very few alterations since its ribbon-cutting ceremony in 1934. Those changes are set forth in the Narrative Description.

NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION:

SITE AND SETTING

The Monday Club sits near the entrance to San Luis Obispo at the intersection of upper Monterey Street and Grand Avenue, the major entry to the campus of California Polytechnic University. Monterey Street was once part of the historic El Camino Real linking California's missions and still passes in front of Mission San Luis Obispo de Tolosa, founded by the Spanish in 1772. The site is a corner lot measuring 100' x 570' with the Santa Lucia mountain range to the south east serving as a dramatic backdrop, which remains nearly unchanged. The site includes the original building, front, rear and side gardens.

EXTERIOR

The Monday Club is a 1- ½ story stucco-clad wood framed building. The roof is gabled with exposed redwood trusses and sheathed in terra cotta tile, 75% is original. Flat portions of the roof have a membrane covering. The cornice has wood moulding with decorative brackets. The foundation rests on a concrete stem wall and interior footings.

The front (North) elevation is largely unchanged. It features a Classical entry equipped with wooden louvers for air circulation and illumination, above which a historic fanlight is surmounted by a wooden keystone molding. The wood paneled entrance doors are not original, but the originals are documented in existing photographs. Two Spanish-colonial style lanterns hang from wrought-iron brackets and narrow-two-over-two windows ornamented with wrought-iron grilles flank the doorway.

Beyond the projecting entry are two more pairs of flanking windows. The front facade is ornamented at its corners with two pairs of columns. They support the heavy horizontal beams that surround the facade at a height directly below the fanlight. Until recently, these columns also supported diagonal wooden latticework, at the center of which was a fan-shaped trellis for climbing vines or espaliered trees. The building's small windows looked out at six of these bowers. The original lattices were removed (and stored) in the 1990s due to deterioration. Their replacement is part of a garden restoration project planned for 2016-2017. The hard and soft landscaping in the front of the building follows the intent of Julia Morgan's rendering but has been modified over time.¹

The East elevation of the building is original though the center French door panels have been replaced. It is near the property line and substantially hidden from view.

The West facade, facing Andrews Street, is largely original. The entrance doorway is similar to the front facade with a Colonial Revival-style arched surround and glass fanlights. Two pairs of columns at either end of the facade support the large horizontal beams surrounding the building. A roof vent below the roofline is formed from stacked terra-cotta roof tiles.

A sloped concrete walkway replaces the original four steps that led to the double entrance doors. A wrought-iron portico was added in the 1960s to provide shade, it is not compatible with the original design, the Club's intention is to remove it at a future date.

On the South side of the building Morgan designed a shade structure originally made up of beams and cross-rafters, and supported by six columns. The current non-historic shade structure was presumably built in 1951 during the Kitchen addition. Though in its original location, it features three plain wooden columns. Morgan's elevation drawing called for this back wall to be decorated with two frescoes at window height (the theme of which was potted plants, as was the case inside), and a painted evocation of a fabric awning.

The South lawn and flower garden are largely conjectural in their layout since an original planting plan has never been found. Beds have been planted with gardenias, pansies, and similar cottage-style flowers. The trees are non-historic with the exception of a pair of Incense Cedars that flank the walkway from Monterey Street to the front entrance. Placed on the San Luis Obispo Heritage Tree List in 1988 and thought to be planted circa 1934 according to San Luis Obispo City Arborist Ron Combs. A screen of tall shrubs (Pittosporum nigra) has been planted to screen the motel built on the adjacent lot to the East in the 1960s. The view from the garden is of the Santa Lucia foothills and is almost completely unchanged from Morgan's era. The non-historic rectilinear gazebo was added at the southern edge of the garden in 1983, to commemorate the Monday Club's 50th anniversary. Parking is at the South end of the property adjacent to San Luis Obispo Creek.

INTERIOR

The club's exterior is largely Spanish Colonial Revival, but the interior is more exotic, reportedly inspired by an oriental garden. Built with a small budget, the building still feels expansive and luxurious. It unites the exterior with the interior, a crucial theme pervading all of Morgan's work.² The Lobby, off of the Monterey Street (North) entry has linear wood flooring and a narrow tongue and groove gabled ceiling. The Lobby is flanked by two Dressing Rooms and Lavatories, with mostly original fixtures. In the West Dressing Room a historic mural extends over three walls, executed by Doris Day, a Julia Morgan associate and San Francisco interior design muralist.³ Day also worked at San Simeon from 1934-1937. Day reportedly based the mural (executed in a floral style suggestive of chinoiserie) on a pattern found on a porcelain serving platter owned by Julia Morgan.

A large wardrobe on the East Lobby wall was owned by Morgan and given as a gift to the Club. Though unsigned, it features decorations likely painted by the aforementioned Doris Day. Its two central cartouches depict an owl and dove. Doris Day, Muralist--who was fond of birds--was known to travel everywhere with Nicky, her pet parrot, who rested on her shoulder as she painted.

From the Lobby the Assembly Room is entered, it is virtually unaltered, possessing its original painted wood trusses (whose cornflower-blue color complements the murals' color scheme), oak floor in a herringbone pattern, painted decorative wall murals, original fenestration, platform stage, French doors and transoms. Six distinctive decorative wall murals of potted loquat trees sitting on trompe l'oeil windowsills were painted by Doris Day in 1934. They represent the loquat trees that Morgan enjoyed on her evening walks when staying overnight in San Luis Obispo.⁴ These painted "windows" are decorated with cartouches that frame diagonal latticework that echoed the exterior latticework that once enlivened the building's façade. The murals appear as fresh as when they were originally executed, in part because they were covered with grasscloth at an unknown date. This remodeling measure protected the paintings from decades of grime and light exposure. When the room was restored in 1970, the grasscloth was steamed off the walls and the murals exposed and restored.⁵ Paint provides most of the interior's decoration. Original hardwood flooring is laid in a herringbone pattern. The platform stage is original and remains the central focus of the room.

The Sun Room is entered from the Assembly Room through French doors with divided lites. The South side of the room features a large natural stone fireplace as its focal point whose chimney is prominently expressed on the exterior elevation. Stone from Merced County in California is used for its hearth and chimney breast.⁶ This stone merges with sand-colored horizontal bricks midway up the mantel. The room has original narrow tongue and groove oak flooring with a narrow tongue and groove flat ceiling. Windows flank the South and West walls and a door on the South wall leads out to the rear garden and grounds.

The original Kitchen on the building's Southeast side is currently used as a Storage Room. It retains its original sink and cabinetry. A Kitchen addition was added to the South end of the building in 1951. This addition is largely original, retaining its 1950s counter tiles and capsule-type dishwasher. The addition was well-sited, and its dimensions (13 feet 7 inches x 34 feet) obtrude only slightly into the rear garden. Two doors, each approached by three concrete steps, were added during the remodel. The building's historic rockwork chimney is intact. Also original is the small stone gable ornament on the chimney's South side.

The Basement is original and is reached by a small staircase at the South end of the platform stage, it retains its original closets and built-in cabinets.

ADDITIONS, ALTERATIONS AND REPAIRS

Constructed of quality materials and well maintained, the building retains the vast majority of its character-defining features, materials and spaces. The historic walkways, entry steps, columns, horizontal timber beams, doorways, gardens and stone chimney survive largely intact. Cosmetic changes include painting the exterior and interior wall surfaces, and interior wood floor refinishing. Other changes are listed below:

1940 - Original Chinese lanterns removed from the Assembly Room. They were replaced with fixtures of a mid-century modern style, later replaced with the current fixtures. One original lantern remains in storage onsite. Though its silk has disintegrated and its bamboo splines are fragile, it provides historic information for possible future reproduction

1951 - Kitchen addition was added to the rear (South) side of the building. The original small Kitchen that retains its historic cabinets was converted to a Storage Room.

1956 - Doors replaced at the Front (North) and side (West) entrances for Code compliance.

1960s - Concrete ramp replaced four stairs that formerly led to the West side entrance. A wrought-iron portico decorated with curvilinear vine-work and vertical staves was added to provide shade.

1970 - Loquat murals were professionally restored by local muralist and Cal Poly art professor Charles Dorman

1983 - Gazebo was constructed in the back garden to commemorate the Club's 50th anniversary.

1990s - Decorative wood lattices that flanked the front (North) and side (West) corners of the building were removed (and stored) due to deterioration.

1995 - Loquat murals were professionally restored by artists Gini Griffin and Paula Zima.

2012 - Sun Room flat roof membrane was replaced to match the existing.

2013 - East and West Lavatory flat roof membranes were replaced to match the existing.

2014 - Original red oak flooring refinished throughout. Original Douglas-fir stage floor in a linear pattern had deteriorated and was replaced with red oak in a linear pattern to match the original red oak flooring found elsewhere in the building.

The building maintains the seven aspects of integrity identified by the National Park Service: location, design, setting, materials, workmanship, feeling and association. The location and setting remain unchanged. The design of the building is intact and has not been affected or diminished. The quality of the materials and workmanship have been matched when repairs or additions have occurred. The feeling and association remain unchanged as the building has functioned continuously in the same capacity for the past 80 plus years.

Period of Significance (justification)

The period of significance covers the period from 1934 when the clubhouse was completed, and ends in 1959 when membership dropped. In 1957 The San Luis Obispo Country Club opened, followed by the opening of the Madonna Inn in 1958. The Monday Club was no longer the primary social and cultural outlet in San Luis Obispo and its membership declined in the late 1950's.

Statement of Significance Summary Paragraph (Provide a summary paragraph that includes level of significance, applicable criteria, justification for the period of significance, and any applicable criteria considerations.)

The Monday Club of San Luis Obispo is eligible for the National Register under Criterion A for its association with the development of San Luis Obispo's social and cultural life from 1934 to 1959. The Monday Club is also eligible under Criterion C because the building embodies the distinctive characteristics of Spanish Colonial Architecture. The building's simple cross-gabled terra cotta roof, use of wood and stone, stucco exterior walls, ornamental iron work window grilles and lanterns, and painted wood trusses are intact character-defining features that give the building a high degree of integrity⁷ (Property embodies the distinctive characteristics of a type, period, or method of construction or represents the work of a master, or possesses high artistic values, or represents a significant and distinguishable entity whose components lack individual distinction). The building has also attained significance under Criterion C as a representative work of master architect Julia Morgan

The Monday Club of San Luis Obispo Clubhouse is socially and architecturally significant. Architect Julia Morgan was engaged to design the building and supervise construction in 1933 by the Club members who met her when she stopped in San Luis Obispo during her frequent trips to San Simeon as the architect for Hearst Castle. It was during this dynamic period of growth for women's clubs in California that the building was conceived and constructed. The building's distinctive Spanish Colonial Revival design has made it a community architectural landmark, and in 1983 it was granted local status as a historical resource. The Clubhouse has functioned continuously as a social center for the community and has helped to shape the civic and cultural development of San Luis Obispo. It is the only Julia Morgan designed Clubhouse in San Luis Obispo County and only one of two Julia Morgan buildings in San Luis Obispo County, the other being Hearst Castle. On the central coast of California the Minerva Club in Santa Maria (Santa Barbara County) is the only other Julia Morgan designed Clubhouse.

Narrative Statement of Significance (Provide at least one paragraph for each area of significance.)

CRITERION A:

The Monday Club and its Role in the Early 20th Century Women's Movement - 1924 -

The Monday Club of San Luis Obispo provides a representative example of an American women's club. The history of the women's movement dates to 1848 when the first women's rights convention was held in Seneca Falls, New York. Prior to that, women were fairly isolated in the home, particularly middle class women, for whom running the household could be an all-consuming task. Changes in the late 19th Century brought women more leisure time. Denied an education and the right to vote, these women sought ways to better themselves and society. Two clubs that led the way were: Sorosis the first professional women's club in the United States, organized in New York City in 1868 and founded by Jane Cunningham Croly, and The New England Women's Club founded in Boston in 1868 by Harriet Hanson Robinson, with organizational help from Julia Ward Howe.⁸

During the 1920s, the country experienced an economic boom due to rapid industrial growth and technological advances. The long fight to improve women's rights finally prompted Congress to pass the nineteenth amendment on August 28, 1919, giving all American women the right to vote. The City Beautiful movement was another important influence, since it encouraged Americans to emulate the spectacular parks and public spaces they witnessed at elaborate world's fairs (including Chicago's 1893 World's Columbian Exposition and San Francisco's 1915 Panama-Pacific International Exposition). Throughout the country, women's clubs like The Women's Clubs worked to improve their own cities. Many influential programs--including academic scholarships, civic beautification, historic preservation, lifelong learning, and land conservation--owe much of their success to women's clubs. Generally apolitical, these groups focused instead on forging social connections and mobilizing armies of volunteers to bring about the civic improvements that local governments would never have financed.

The Monday Club of San Luis Obispo was founded on November 17, 1924, when two existing clubs—the Home Culture Club and the Book Club—merged. The 1920s was a golden age when women's clubs were at their height of cultural influence. This new organization was soon ratified by the California Federation of Women's Clubs. The Monday Club's original stated mission was to beautify the city, expand their members' knowledge, and pursue higher goals beyond the home.

Soon after their charter was signed, The Monday Club members realized that automobiles would increase the number of visitors to San Luis Obispo. They therefore made Monterey Street an early focus. The Motel Inn—the nation's first motor hotel—was built in 1925 by Arthur and Albert Heinemann, and was also located at the northern end of Monterey Street. In 1926, the club installed Monterey's streetlights and built its ceremonial arch on which "San Luis Obispo" was written in letters large enough to stretch across the entire street. They also began planting trees and acquired the lease to allow for the creation of Mitchell Park, still a city park today. The organization was therefore well established in 1933 when construction began on Julia Morgan's design for their new clubhouse near the top of Monterey Street. Celebrating excellence in local architecture was always a high priority for the club, which began hosting its architectural tours in the thirties, a tradition it carries on today.

After the Clubhouse was completed in 1934 it soon became the focus for community events and lectures. Initially the members met for tea. The meeting format evolved: a business meeting first, then a luncheon, followed by a program. The Monday Club was frequently featured in the local newspaper, and members were often contributors to a monthly newsletter, "The Women," in the 1930s.

During WWII, Club members served as lookouts for enemy planes, gathered scrap metal and picked tomatoes to support the war effort. In 1942, $15,022 for war bonds was raised at a Club Victory Tea.

In the 21st century, many formerly active women's clubs have watched their rosters dwindle as aging members die and new recruits fail to join. In contrast, The Monday Club remains remarkably popular (since 2011 it has experienced a membership surge), appealing to members in their thirties as well as to those in their eighties. The age span of current members is from 21 to 103! The success of its building is proved by the absence of any significant remodeling over the past eighty years. Long before Morgan attained national prominence, The Monday Club remained unchanged. It was already superbly effective in meeting the needs of its many generations of members.

Clubhouse Construction 1930-1934

The Monday Club initially met in the basement of the San Luis Obispo Carnegie Public Library. Club leaders desired a place that members could call their own. Accordingly, in 1930, the Club purchased the .936 acre lot on Monterey from Chester A. Carlin for $3900 plus a $500 contribution to the City's storm drain development. Through hard work and effort by club members the funds were raised by holding salvage sales, flower and fashion shows, card and dinner parties, and even shining shoes. Mrs. F. G. Beckler was the Club's president at this time, and Miss Grace E. Barneberg was chairman of the building committee. Barneberg was a Club charter member and president from 1926 -1928.

In 1932, when The Monday Club first approached her, Julia Morgan had designed more than 600 buildings. San Simeon was listed as Job Number 503 in Morgan's office records. It is significant that when she began to design San Simeon in 1919, she was not yet eligible to vote in a federal election. Julia Morgan's career involved a lifelong affiliation with what was known as the Women's Network. She designed close to one hundred buildings that were in some way associated with women's organizations (in a prolific career that included nearly 700 buildings). Many of these ventures were either unprofitable or outright pro bono endeavors. Throughout her career, she continued to support women's clubs and women's opportunities (The Monday Club being one of her last such commissions).

In 1932, Grace Barneberg approached local taxi owner Steve Zegar, requesting that he get in touch with Julia Morgan on the Club's behalf. (Zegar kept his fleet of taxis at the train station). He had ample time to broach the subject, since he drove Morgan forty-five miles up the coast to San Simeon two or three times a month. In return for room and board at club member homes before the long drive to San Simeon, she agreed in 1933 to design and supervise construction of The Monday Club. Morgan wrote to Barneberg on February 25, 1932: "Should the San Luis Obispo Women's Club want our services.....we will waive our usual schedule of charges and will make a flat charge to cover the expenses of your work without profit to our office. We will assume that you will build a building to cost not more than $16,000 and that you will pay us for our services $800. This we offer knowing how hard you must have worked to raise the amount you already have toward your project."⁹ The Clubhouse was constructed by local builder James Jepson at a cost of $12,000 and completed in 1934.

Morgan always oversaw the small details of her projects, but at The Monday Club, she was involved to an even higher degree. She suggested the loquat tree motifs for the murals, having admired loquat trees on her walks through town. Her gift of the large painted wardrobe in the lobby--is a highly personal and otherwise unprecedented gesture. Perhaps most revealingly, Morgan appears to have suggested many of The Monday Club's motifs, including its Chinese lanterns, painted cartouches, and floral mural designs.

William Randolph Hearst also played a little-known role in the construction of the Monday Club. Hearst assisted in the fundraising effort for the Monday Club's building fund in an unusual way. He allowed the club to sell tickets for public tours of his San Simeon estate.¹⁰ These fees went entirely to the Monday Club's building campaign. In addition, Hearst donated $500 to the building fund. It is the only known example of this arrangement, which of course predates Hearst Castle's final destiny as a California state park and house museum open for public tours 362 days a year.

CRITERION C:

The architectural style of The Monday Club building can best be categorized as Spanish Colonial Revival, which gained in popularity during the early 20th Century through the well publicized work of Bertram Goodhue on the San Diego Panama-California Exhibition in 1915 as well as the residential and commercial work of Addison Mizner in Florida during the 1920's. Fifty plus years after California gained statehood in 1850 the architecture style of the Spanish colonization of North America was proudly embraced.¹¹ The city of Santa Barbara, CA adopted the style to give the city a unified character after the 1925 earthquake there caused widespread damage. Architect George Washington Smith was one of the most accomplished architects of the Spanish Colonial Revival style in Santa Barbara in the 1920's.¹² Buildings constructed of thick stucco clad walls that absorbed the day's heat and radiated it back into the buildings during cool evenings were well suited to the warm weather climates found in California and Florida.

The Clubhouse building's simple cross-gabled terra cotta tile roof, smooth plaster exterior walls, and simple form are hallmarks of the style. The entries are subtly embellished at the front and side with arched openings and additional wood detailing. The divided lite casement windows (all wood) are vertically rectangular except for the arched transoms over the North and West entry doors. Minimalist wrought iron window grates and a pair of Spanish style wall light fixtures grace the front (North) entry.

The North elevation serves as the building's main entry although its gable is smaller than the main cross gable that covers the Assembly Room. The Lobby extends 12 feet beyond the building's main mass and is flanked by symmetrical flat-roofed Lavatories and Dressing Rooms on either side. A strong, horizontal timber header supported by four cylindrical, non-tapered columns dominates the façade. Until recently, these columns also supported diagonal wooden latticework, at the center of which was a fan-shaped trellis for climbing vines or espaliered trees. A traditional wood cornice and modest eaves support the roof.

The secondary entrance on the West elevation features larger windows with transoms above the continuous header and a taller gable sporting an attractive barrel tile attic vent. The arched wood door surround mimics the detailing of the main North entrance.

The most prominent feature of the rear (South) façade is the striking natural stone chimney which originally occupied the center of a symmetrically ordered building face. A flat-roofed kitchen addition built in 1951 with roof mounted mechanical equipment has altered the symmetry. The straight columns repeat the form and location of those on the North side of the building and the horizontal wood header continues around to unify and provide order for the façade.

The Monday Club remains an excellent example of Morgan's sensitivity to a building's site, function, and users. On a very meager budget, she designed a beautiful building that interacts with San Luis Obispo's matchless setting. She generously donated her time for the work, and continued to fulfill her promises to the Club, even though she was experiencing some of the most stressful and challenging incidents of her entire life. It embodies her endurance, ingenuity, and dedication. Since The Monday Club's inception, it's members have exemplified that same spirit, carefully maintaining the club's historic integrity, safeguarding its many character-defining features, and creating a thriving asset to the community of San Luis Obispo.

Architect: Julia Morgan

Julia Morgan was the first female licensed architect in California, and the first woman to graduate from the prestigious L'Ecole des Beaux-Arts in Paris with a diploma in architecture in 1902. She was significant as a versatile designer who was client-focused and notable for her outstanding structural engineering skills (one of the first buildings she designed, a campanile for Mills College, Oakland, CA withstood the 1906 earthquake bringing her local acclaim). Morgan worked on the San Simeon (Hearst Castle) commission from 1919 to 1947 for client William Randolph Hearst. Hearst Castle is located 43 miles north of The Monday Club off Highway 1. Both properties are located within San Luis Obispo County.

The enduring significance of Julia Morgan's architectural career was confirmed in April 2014 when the American Institute of Architects (AIA) posthumously awarded her the Gold Medal, its highest accolade. For the past seventy years this annual prize has been awarded to such celebrated practitioners as Frank Lloyd Wright, Louis Sullivan, and Robert Venturi, but never to a female architect.

All interior surfaces have been carefully maintained throughout the building's history and accurately reflect the architects' original intention.

Mr. William Randolph Hearst has asked the Monday Club of San Luis Obispo to postpone the Tours of the San Simeon Estate to November 28 and 29—Thanksgiving week-end. The Club is happy to comply with this wish.

The Hearst Estate, covering 240,000 acres, is located on the scenic Coast Highway north of San Luis Obispo. Cabrillo Country Club, Morro Bay and Morro Rock as well as Cambria Pines are seen enroute and are well worth one's attention.

This Estate has never been open to the public before and may never be again and great responsibility rests on the Monday Club in conducting these Tours. Stringent rules of deportment will be necessary. Children of all ages will be admitted provided they are in the hands of parents.

These Tours are Mr. Hearst's generous gesture toward swelling the Club House Fund of the Monday Club. Tickets are $1.50 per person.

Remember, Saturday and Sunday, November 28 and 29, you will have the wonderful opportunity of seeing gardens unsurpassed in beauty, the Hearst Castle in all its gorgeous reality, and a Zoo that is the largest private zoo in the world.

Kindly give the Tours publicity in your local newspapers, announce them before your clubs, write and talk them to your friends.

It is a pleasure trip and an educational one combined. Plan to come and bring your family.

Parking space is limited so you are urged to come with filled cars.

NOVEMBER 28 and 29. PRICE $1.50 PER PERSON.

NOTICE! If Thanksgiving week-end is stormy the Tours will take place December 5 and 6.

Miss Grace E. Barneberg,
550 Dana Street,
San Luis Obispo, California

Dear Miss Barneberg:

Not knowing my schedule until today, I could not answer your kind letter.

I will be in San Luis Obispo on the way to the ranch Monday morning, and would like very much to get a glimpse of the lot before any set meeting with your Board - so I may think it over and have a real basis for making and meeting suggestions.

I will be at the Anderson Hotel, and could have the hour between 8:30 and 9:30. I could call for you at 8:30 or 9:00 as suits you and drive to the lot? Then we could arrange for how and when you would want a regular meeting.

If you would kindly leave a note at the Hotel, I will get it Sunday night when I come in.

With kindest regards,

Yours truly,

Dear Miss Barneberg:

Many thanks for the kind note. It will be, am sorry to say, another week possibly ten days, before I can make your town again.

Just after the last trip, five weeks ago now, the ear trouble developed into an acute stage necessitating a radical mastoid operation, and while all went well, the aftermath is a bit slower than usual, and even as a beturbaned Turk, traveling is not yet in order.

I will bring sketches, pretty well developed, on both original and last schemes -- both too big I am afraid -- and certainly want to talk over before they go to more than the smallest number possible.

Regretting the delay - with kindest regards,

Yours truly,

JM:F

Dear Miss Barneberg:

I expect to be in San Luis Obispo on Wednesday morning and could call at your home about nine o' clock, if that would be convenient for you.

The amount to be spent on the building is the first thing to be settled upon, because naturally a $10,000 building and a $16,000 one would be fundamentally different. I have schemes worked out enough to be able to tell you about what you could expect to do.

It has taken much longer to "pull up" than expected, and I am not yet fully in harness, much to my regret.

If you are not in San Luis Obispo this week, I expect to be back a week from Wednesday.

Yours sincerely,

Report of Building Committee
1931- 1932

The paramount project of the Monday Club is the building of a club house. That was decided in a meeting at the beginning of the club year by a unanimous vote of the membership, said club house to cost $16000.00.

At a comparatively recent meeting it was unanimously voted to accept the services of Julia Morgan in planning and supervising the erection of said club building, the Monday Club to pay $300.00 to cover office and other expense Miss Morgan will be necessarily put to.

The following has been collected toward the erection of said club house:

Loans from club members -----	3050.00
Outside loans -----	630.00
Ways and Means -----	2424.65
Park Fund savings -----	2262.39
Gifts from outsiders -----	35.00
Gift from Miss Bouldin -----	500.00
Savings in Building and Loan -----	1000.00
	Total-- $9902.00

Miss Grace E. Berneberg

Dear Miss Barneberg:

It seems to us that a very satisfactory way to build the Monday Club building would be, instead of having the plans and specifications go out to several general contractors for lump sum competitive bids, to have a chosen contractor handle the job on a fixed contract, this contract to be the sum of all sub contracts arrived at competitively plus insurances, and a sum to be agreed upon as fair with the builder to cover his possible profits and losses. Otherwise, instead of having competitive general bids from three or four men, you would have competitive bidding on all the items entering into the cost except the item covering the builder's profit and loss.

By using this method, the contractor secures competitive figures for each of the various parts of the work and the most desirable propositions are selected in consultation with the architect. The contractor then sums up the sub bids and costs, adds the agreed upon fee for himself, the total being the contract price, to be signed for in the regular form. This method gives the owner a preferred builder, full benefit of comparative figures, a choice of sub contractors, and total cost not any greater, - in fact frequently less, than one obtained by free general competition.

Possibly Mr. Maino, a San Luis Obispo contractor whom you probably know, would be interested in a proposition for doing the work on this basis, and we would suggest that you talk with him regarding the matter.

Yours very truly,

JM:F

Monday Club of San Luis Obispo
San Luis Obispo, San Luis Obispo County
Staff Report

The Monday Club of San Luis Obispo is located at 1815 Monterey Street, near the northern entrance to San Luis Obispo at the intersection of Grand Avenue, the major entrance to California Polytechnic State University. The Monday Club was designed by San Francisco Architect Julia Morgan and demonstrates her masterful ability to incorporate elements normally used for her grand commissions in a smaller building.

The building is wood-frame with a simple cross-gabled terra cotta roof. Smooth stucco exterior walls are punctuated with ornamental iron window grilles. Spanish-Colonial style lanterns hang from wrought-iron brackets and flank the front entrance. These features work together to place the building within the Spanish Colonial Revival Style, with Craftsman influences. A broken-pediment with wooden brackets at the returns give the entrance to the building a formal, but welcoming disposition. Interior wood trusses with iron straps, a large stone fireplace and numerous trompe l'oeil murals create an expansive and formal, but warm feel and echo Morgan's larger commissions.

The Monday Club of San Luis Obispo was founded on November 17, 1924, when two existing clubs—the Home Culture Club and the Book Club—merged. The new organization was soon ratified by the California Federation of Women's Clubs. The Monday Club's mission was to beautify the city, expand members' knowledge, and pursue higher goals beyond the home. Construction was completed on the new clubhouse in 1934. The clubhouse was the focus for community events and lectures, as well as a very well-attended annual flower show. One significant fund raising project helped to construct a new pool for the local high school. Another project funded new band uniforms. Until the late 1950s the Monday Club was San Luis Obispo's primary social and cultural outlet.

Well maintained and in excellent condition, the building retains all aspects of historic integrity. The Monday Club is eligible for the National Register under Criterion A for its association with the development of San Luis Obispo's social and cultural life. The Monday Club is also eligible under Criterion C because the building embodies the distinctive characteristics of Spanish Colonial Architecture with Craftsman influences, and illustrates an important aspect of Architect Julia Morgan's career. The period of significance begins in 1934 when the clubhouse was completed, and ends in 1959 when the club was no longer the primary social and cultural organization in San Luis Obispo, and membership dropped.

Staff recommends the State Historical Resources Commission determine the Monday Club of San Luis Obispo meets National Register Criterion A and Criterion C at the local level of significance. Staff further recommends the State Historic Preservation Officer approve the nomination for forwarding to the National Park Service for final approval.

Subject: Monday National Register of Historic Places Nomination

Dear Mr. Loether:

Enclosed please find the Monday Club nomination to the National Register of Historic Places. On January 29, 2016 at its regular quarterly meeting held in Sacramento, the California State Historical Resources Commission found the Monday Club eligible for the National Register under Criteria A and C at the local level of significance. The period of significance is 1934-1959.

The Monday Club is located at 1815 Monterey Street, near the northern entrance to San Luis Obispo. Designed by Julia Morgan, the building embodies the distinctive characteristics of Spanish Colonial Revival Architecture and demonstrates Morgan's masterful ability to incorporate elements normally used for her grand commissions in a smaller building. As the location of many lectures, fundraising events, flower shows, and many other educational and social functions, the building is closely associated with the development of San Luis Obispo's social and cultural life.

The Monday Club is nominated to the National Register by its membership. If you have questions please contact Jay Correia of my staff at 916-445-7008 or jay.correia@parks.ca.gov.

Sincerely,
