

A black and white photograph of the entrance to Springbrook State Park. The main feature is a large, rectangular stone pillar on the left, constructed from rough-hewn stones. A dark rectangular plaque is mounted on its front face, containing the text "SPRINGBROOK STATE PARK" in white, serif, all-caps font. To the right of this pillar, a wooden post holds a circular sign, which is mostly obscured by the tree behind it. Further to the right, a series of smaller, similar stone pillars are arranged in a line, receding into the background. The scene is set outdoors with a paved road in the foreground, a grassy area, and several large, leafless trees in the background under a bright sky.
