45. Description and House Plan:

One-story, six-bay, hipped-roof, dry-stone house with rear ell. Chimneys are interior, between rooms, with fireplaces back to back. Tooled limestone masonry, laid in regular course. Openings have pegged frames, ogee trim. Nine stone voussoirs without keys. Cellar has horizontal diamond bars with mullion. The old mortar has some cement and sand, like Carroll County stone houses; the repointing (not lately) was with concrete. Hipped roof is shallow; cornice looks original.

Plan surmised by looking into windows:

Appears to be four rooms across front block; entrance in fourth bay (from west end) into third room. On rear, entrance is in third bay (from west end), into second room. 1970 photo shows transitional woodwork, Federal/Greek, said to be original; heavy fluted mantel, corner block door frames, no chair rail. Presses in three room.

Rear ell, built as unit with front block, has chimney in north end wall which also serves fireplace in cellar below.

Vaulted stone root cellar behind house; also a frame extended gable dependency.

House located on crest of broad gentle hill with commanding view of surrounding pasture lands; wildlife preserve in wooded stream valley.
