40

A black and white photograph of a house entrance. The central feature is a dark door with a transom window, set within a white portico. The portico has a pediment with the number '40' inscribed on it. The door is flanked by white pilasters. In front of the door, there are two potted plants on either side and a decorative wrought-iron railing. The house has horizontal siding. The lighting is dramatic, with the white trim standing out against the dark background.
