A black and white photograph of a suspension bridge. The bridge is made of dark metal trusses and is supported by several tall, dark wooden or concrete pillars. The bridge deck is covered with a wooden railing. In the foreground, there is a wooden guardrail and a signpost. The signpost has a rectangular sign with the text "WEIGHT LIMIT 11 TONS". The background shows a dense forest of trees, some of which are bare, suggesting a late autumn or winter setting. The overall scene is somewhat overcast and has a slightly grainy texture.
