DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARAN

Characterized as perhaps the most important single building in Connecticut associated with the Revolutionary War, the War Office originally served Captain Joseph Trumbull (1678 -1755) as store and office for his extensive mercantile interests. It is a small structure of central-chimney plan,  $l_{2}^{1}$  stories, gambrel roof, with two stone fireplaces back to back dividing the interior into two rooms. The facade is not symmetrical, the entry being placed near the left front corner of the structure and a window to the right for each of the rooms. Heavy window frames of early style project considerably beyond the plane of the clapboard wall, with caps of heavy moulding. The window at second floor level on the building end shows a Triangular pediment cap similar to those at first floor front of the Jonathan Trumbull house nearby. Since the structure is set fairly high on stone foundation, two stone steps lead to the entrance. Interior is severely plain and devoted to an exhibit of old tools, utensils, and artifacts.
