DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The original building, erected in 1868, was a two story frame structure of vertical board and batten, approximately 58' x 36', with an open veranda extending across the first story front. The roof was a high gable - center gable combination with no decoration on the projecting edge. Windows were sash with small panes; the front door was a center door of plain wood with no glazing. Veranda posts are squared and the porch supports made of wood. The building has changed but slightly in appearance over the years.

There are ten sleeping rooms upstairs, which is about 2,000 square feet. Three bathrooms have been added. The stairway to the upper floor has a hand rail.

There was originally a store in the building, and it also served as the post-office for a period of years. A 28' x 15' addition to the rear was added at a later date, which presently serves as the bar and contains public rest rooms. The present owners also have their private living quarters downstairs. The kitchen has been modernized to some degree. With the exception of the bar addition and bathrooms, all alterations have been minor.

A lobby and dining room are also on the first floor.

The building is furnished much as it must have been when first built.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This hotel, built in 1868, replaced the original hotel on this site, which burned earlier that year. The original hotel, built about 1857 or 1858, was purchased by John Stokes in 1866. He rebuilt the hotel immediately after the fire with the help, so it was said, of a government loan.

The fire which destroyed the original hotel was so fierce that nothing was saved except one trunk, which contained books and accounts of the hotel. The present owners and operators of the Inskip Inn still have many of these records.

The Inn is important because it is the only hotel in Butte County which has been in almost continuous operation for over 125 years, being closed at various times only for short periods between owners.

The community of Inskip dwindled from its heyday of about 1000 residents until today the Inn itself is the only remnant remaining. The hotel was able to remain in operation after the miners moved on because it was a stage stop on the main Oroville - Susanville road.

Today it is a popular ski and snow sports center in the winter, and patronized by hunters and fishermen other seasons of the year, as well as by an occasional miner.
