A black and white photograph of a road winding through a hilly, wooded area. The road has a double white line on the left and a single white line on the right. A metal guardrail runs along the left side of the road. On the right side, a historical marker sign is mounted on a post. The sign is rectangular with a dark border and contains the text "HISTORICAL MARKER" at the top, "GARNETT CR BRIDGE" in the middle, and "1902" at the bottom. The background shows a steep, grassy hillside with scattered trees and utility poles.
