18. Description gable end, common bond brick - probably originally double entrance - altered to one-wooden lintels with bulls eye corner - wooden sills - five bay flanks - recent addition on East -

19. History  The land on which the church now stands was used in the early 1800s as a camp meeting site - The revivals sometimes lasted 2 to 4 weeks - It was used and attended by all denominations - The first building on this site was log - then in 1845 the present structure was erected - early members of the church helped construct the building the brick and mortar work was done by CA. Carter and Veet Patillo. Significant structure in the career of a builder, particularly clear illustration of a common type and style. One of the earliest religious structures still standing in Warren County

191. This church is perhaps the earliest surviving religious structure in the county outside of the county seat. The overall form and the flat wooden lintels with bull's eye end blocks exemplify the traditional form and details of the standard Greek Revival brick box church. The church is also one of the major structures by a local builder.
