Describe present and historic physical appearance.

The Pistol Creek Dam and Mill Race consists of a reinforced concrete dam and mill race on Pistol Creek erected ca. 1900. The dam is approximately ten feet in length and was originally another eight feet to nine feet in length across the entire creek. An eight to nine foot section of the dam has been removed to allow free flow of the water. On the north side of the creek is a reinforced concrete, twenty foot section of the mill race. The race is shaped like a flattened U and directed water several hundred yards to mills downstream. Across the top of the concrete race are a series of concrete cross ties which tie into the metal bars in the concrete for added reinforcement. Further downstream is a 100' section of the original concrete race. This section is a concrete lined race approximately three feet in depth and five to six feet wide. The sides of the race slope outwards. The site also contains three ca. 1976 pedestrian bridges of wood construction which are included as non-contributing structures. The site is located in downtown Maryville along Pistol Creek in Bicentennial Park.

State significance of property, and justify criteria, criteria considerations, and areas and periods of significance noted above.

The Pistol Creek Dam and Mill Race are significant under criterion A for their association with the growth and development of Maryville industries in the early 20th century. The town of Maryville was founded adjacent to Pistol Creek in the 1790s and by the early 19th century the waters of the creek had been harnessed to supply power for several clothing and grist mills. A dam was built at the present site of the concrete dam and a mill race excavated which extended several hundred yards along the south bank of the creek. By the mid-1800s the Pistol Creek area contained the major industries of the community and employed several dozen workers. By the early 1900s most of these industries had closed or moved to other locations and eventually all of these mill buildings were razed. The dam and mill race are the only pre-1940 sites associated with the milling industry and heritage of Maryville.

The present concrete mill race and dam appears to have replaced an earlier dam and race at this point around 1900. The use of reinforced concrete became a popular building material in the early 1900s and was utilized to construct the dam and bed of the race. The race was built to serve primarily the Huffstetler Flour Mill which stood several hundred yards downstream adjacent to the creek. The race provided water to the turbine wheel to power the mill. Several other industrial buildings were located adjacent to the mill race such as the Anchor Woolen Mills but it is not clear if these industries utilized the water for their operations. By 1917, this flour mill complex was operated by the Williams Brothers who converted the mill from water to electric power. Use of the dam and race was discarded soon after. In recent years this section of Pistol Creek has been converted into a park and the mill dam and race remain as historic site features.
