A black and white photograph of a storefront for a business named 'Window Fashions'. The building is a single-story structure with a mix of light-colored siding and a darker, textured section above the entrance. A large sign on the right side of the storefront lists various services and products. To the left, there are several parked cars and a street lamp. In the background, a taller, multi-story building is visible. The foreground is a wide, paved street with some faint markings.
