

St. Mark's Philadelphia Lady Chapel
Photo: George Thomas

St. Mark's Church, Philadelphia:
"Lady Chapel" exterior. Walter Cope (Cope & Stewardson), architect, 1900-1902.

Photo: George Thomas

St. Mark's Philadelphia Exterior
Photo: George Thomas

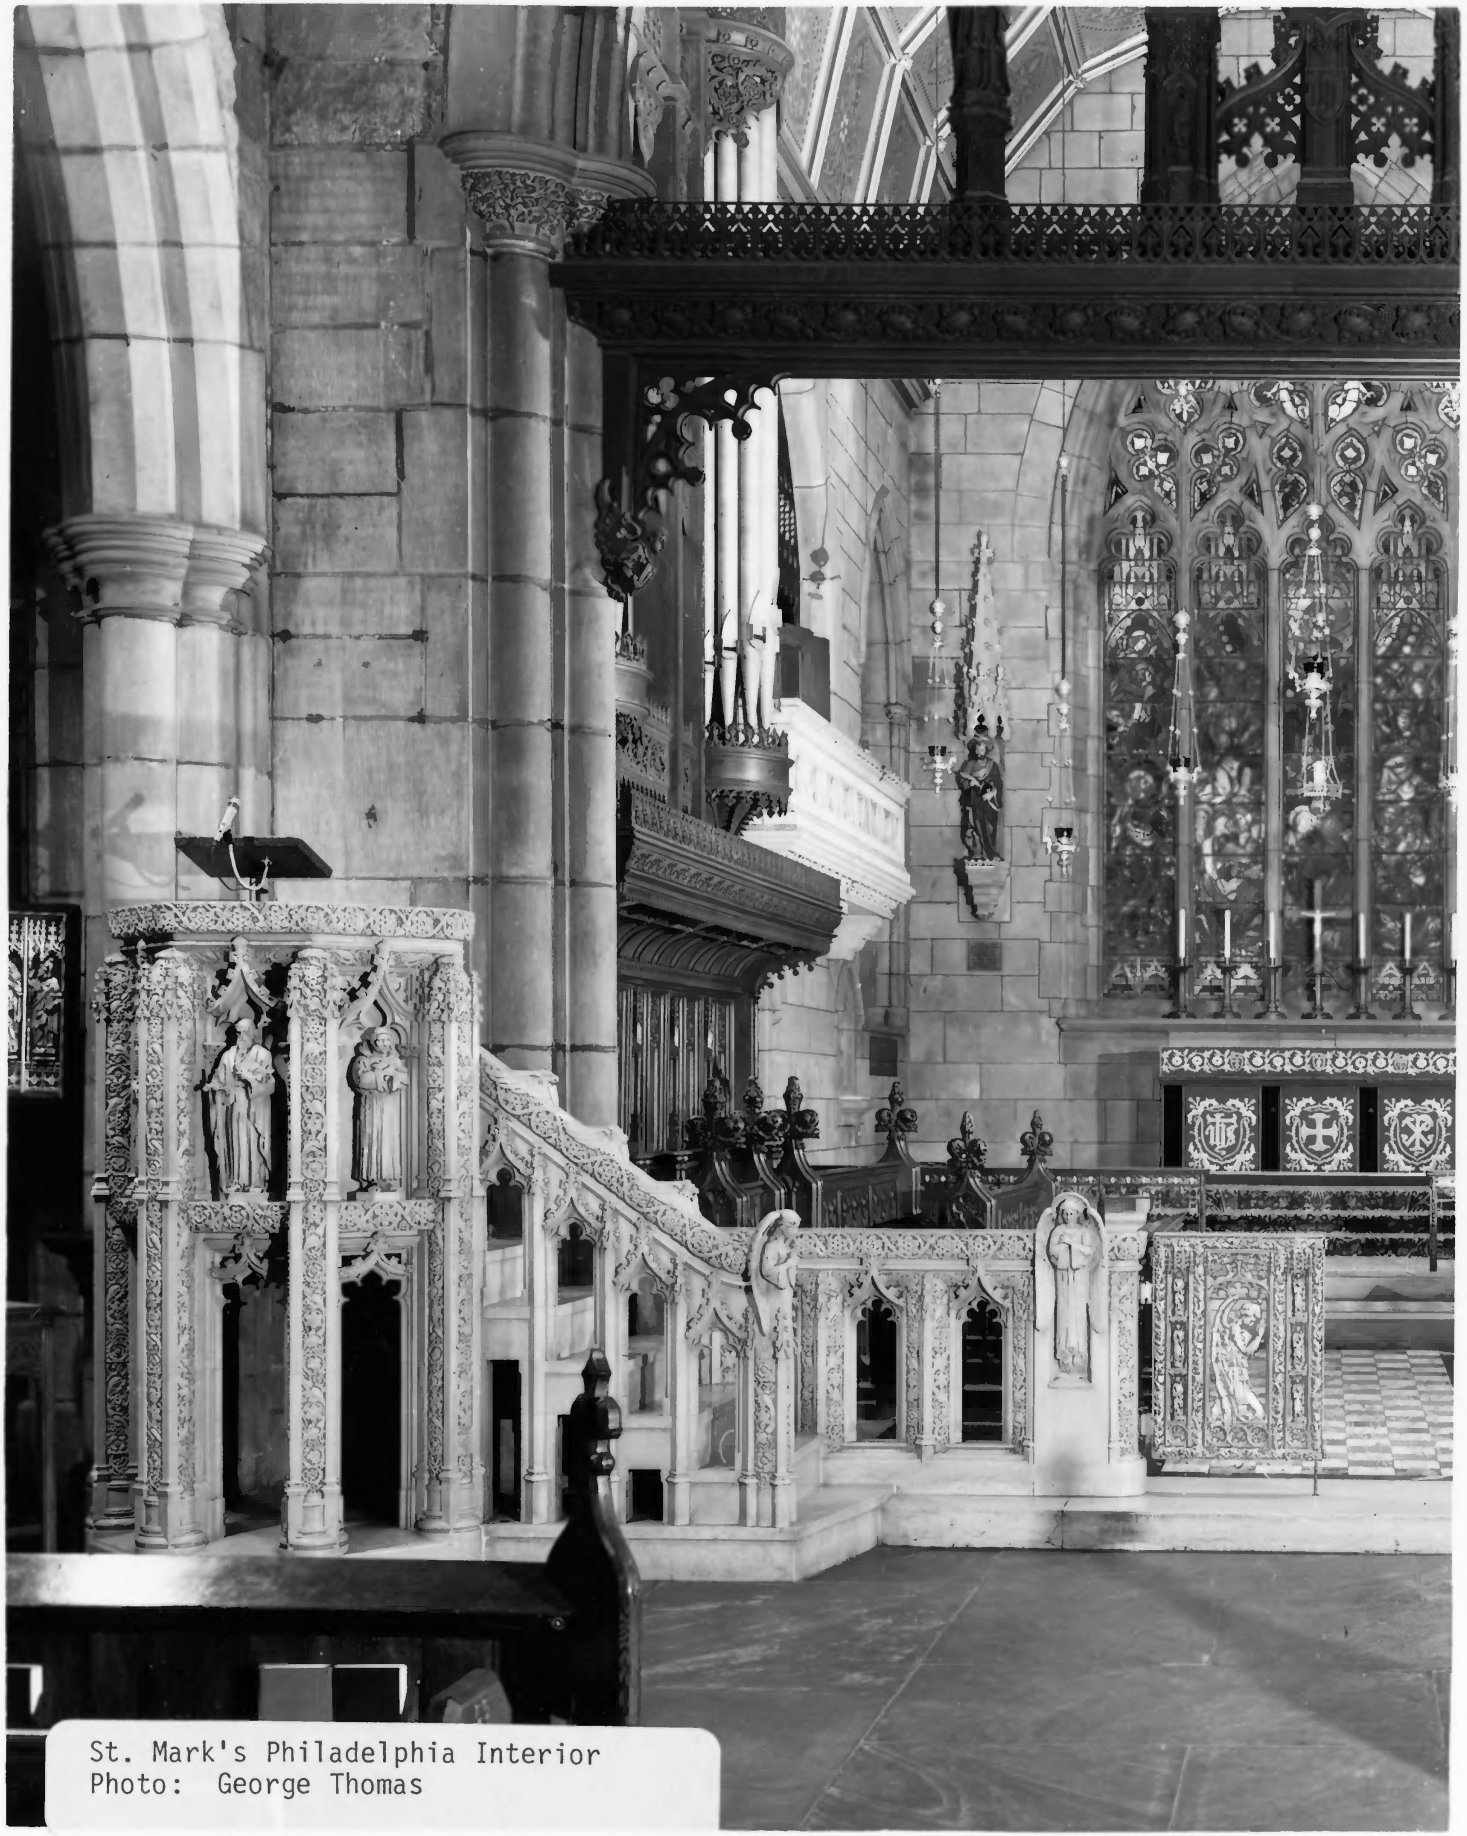

St. Mark's Church, Philadelphia,
exterior from southeast. John Notman, architect: church and tower 1848-52; Walker Cope (Cope & Stewardson), architect: "Lady Chapel" 1900-1902.

Photo: George Thomas

St. Mark's Philadelphia Interior
Photo: George Thomas

St. Mark's Church - interior,
looking east. John Notman, architect; 1848-50. Woodwork by Henry Vaughan, architect; 1905.
Chancel roof and pulpit, 1913
(designer unknown at this time).
Photo: George Thomas

St. Mark's Philadelphia Interior
Photo: George Thomas

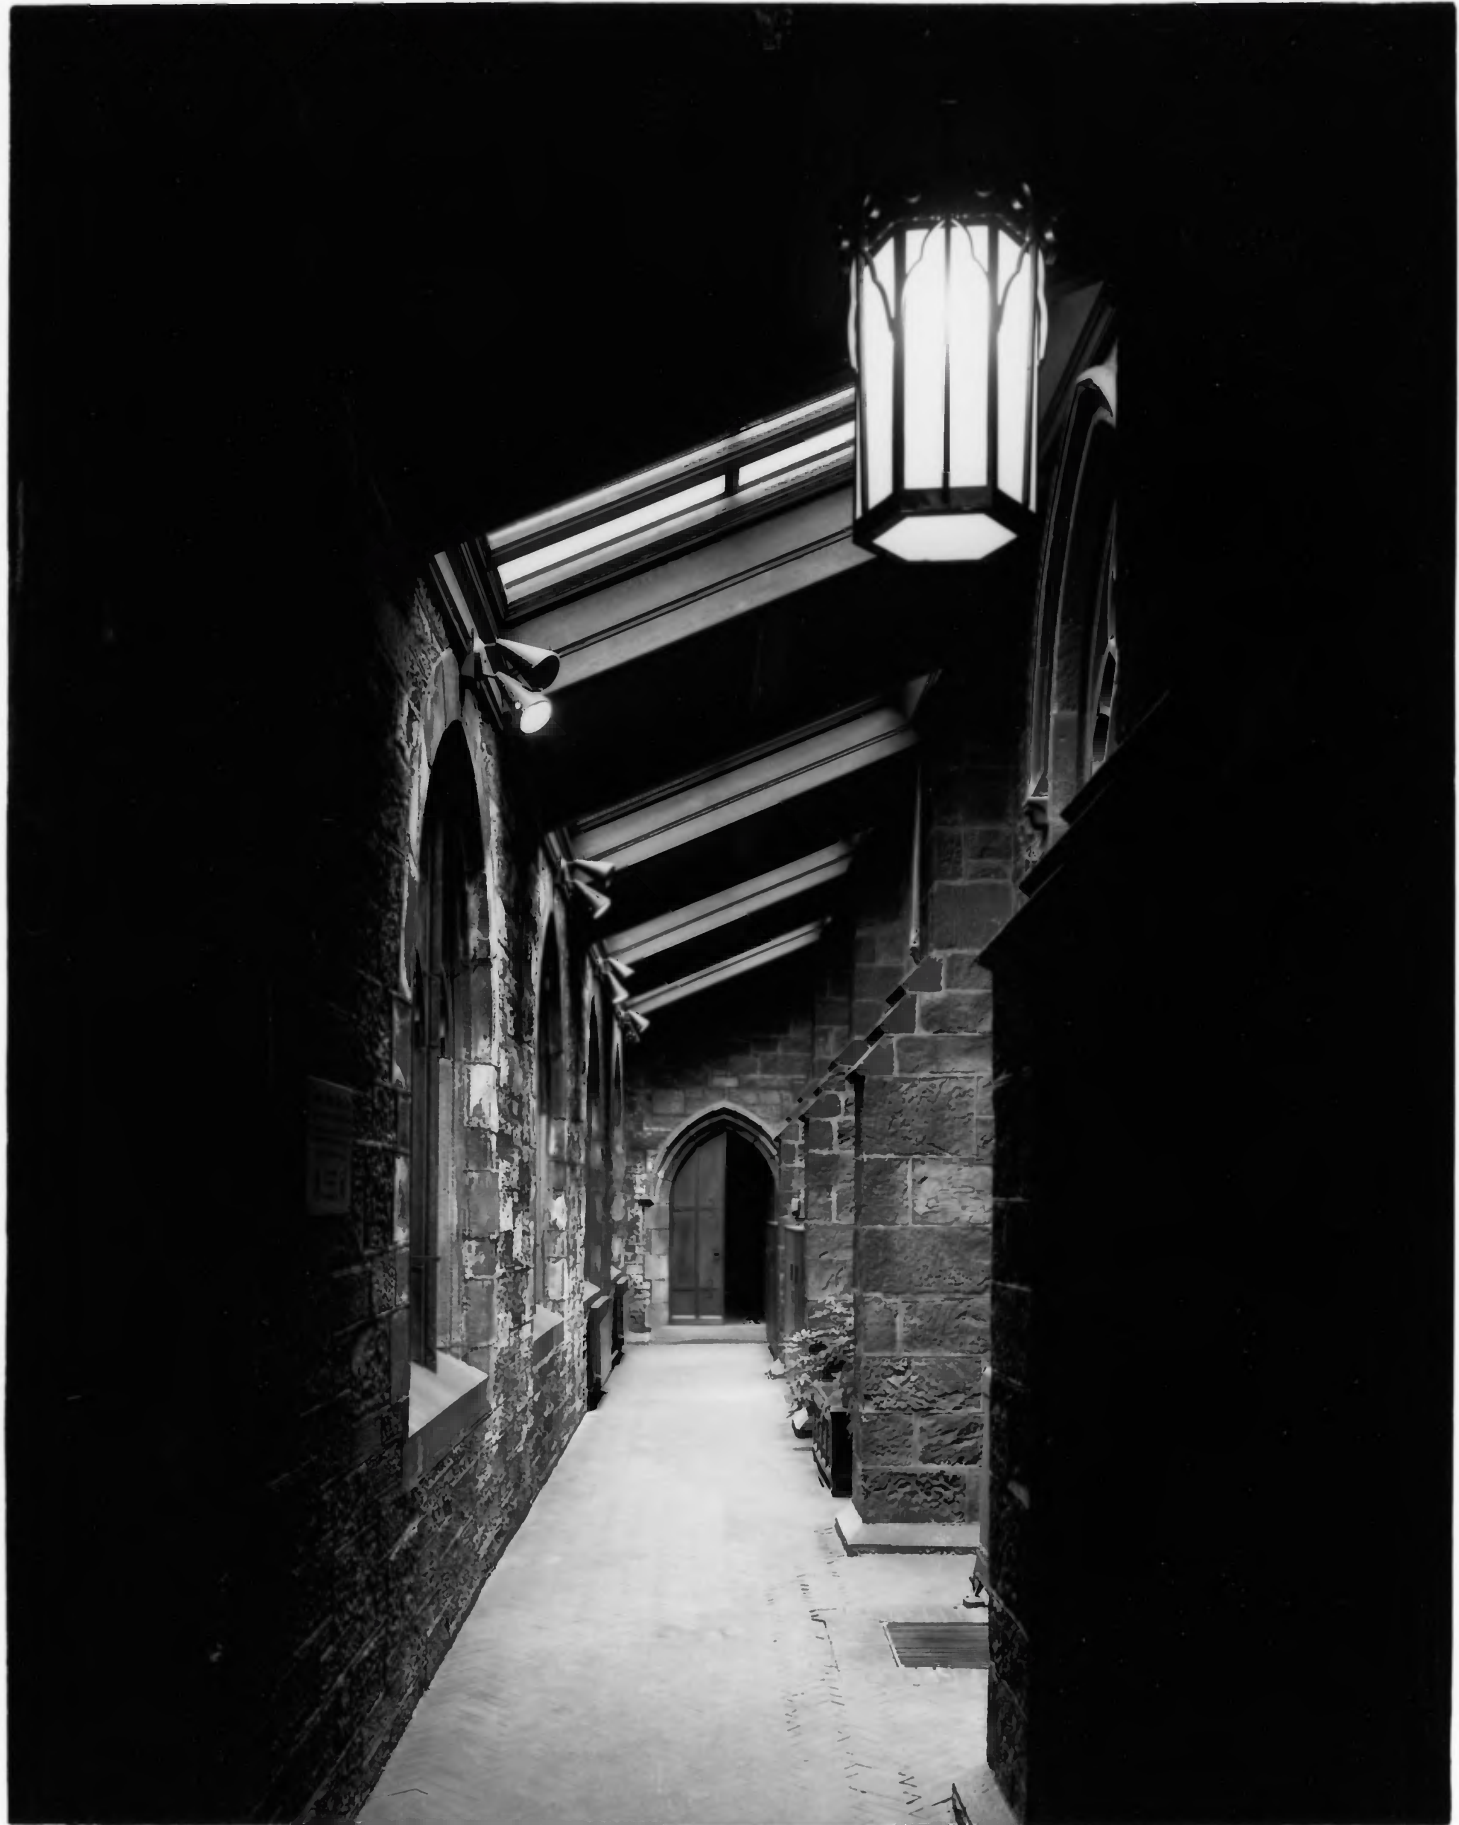

St. Mark's Church - interior;
pulpit and chancel rail, 1913.

Designs unknown at present

(possibly L.C. Tiffany? cf.

St. Stephen's Church, Phila.)

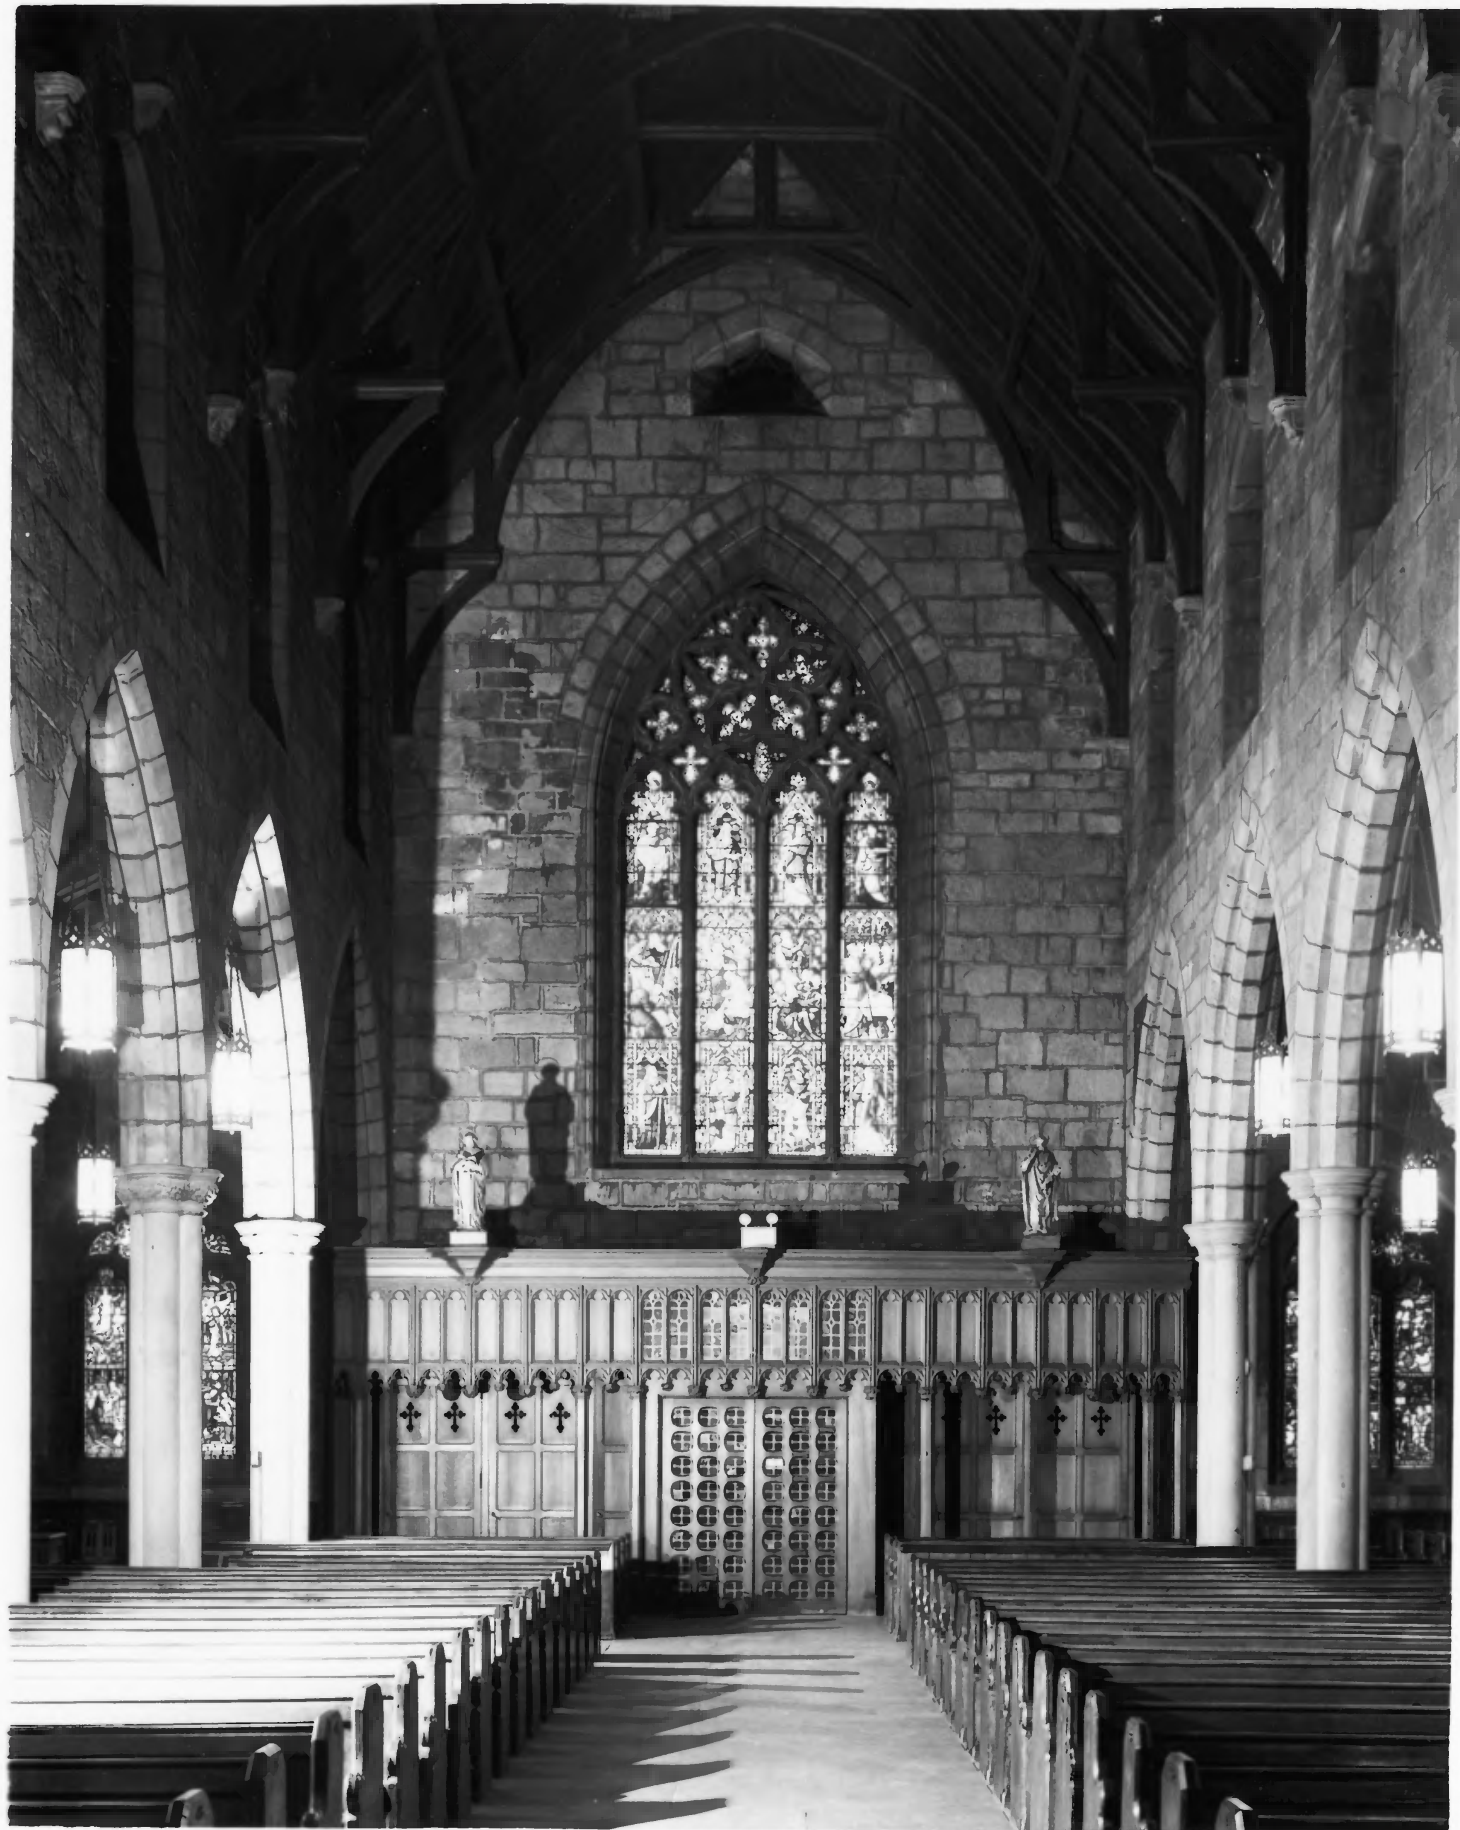

Photo: George Thomas.

St. Mark's Church, interior:

"cloister" on north side of church, looking east. Maple.
hurst used Huebner, architects, 1992.

Photo: George Thomas.

St. Mark's Church - interior,
looking west. John Notman, architect, 1848-50.

Photo: George Thomas

St. Mark's Church, interior:
"Lady Chapel" looking south.
Walter Cope (Cope & Stewardson)
architect 1900-1902. Chapel & silver altar given by Rodman Wanamaker, 1900-1923.
Photo: George Thomas

St. Mark's Church, interior.
"lady chapel" looking north.
Walter Cox (Cox & Stearnson)
architect, 1900-1902.

Photo: George Thomas.