General view of Wolf Creek, c. 1920, looking west/northwest, photographer unknown. Pictured are the school, hotel, and rebuilt store on opposite side of highway. Note the one-and-a-half-story lean-to on the ell's south elevation which housed four sleeping rooms prior to construction of the eight-room guest wing in 1925. Also shown are the woodshed, parallel with the diningroom and kitchen ell, and, c. 100 feet to the south, an outbuilding understood to have been a cook's residence.
