Paxton House
Lincoln County, Mississippi

7. DESCRIPTION

Located approximately eleven miles west of Brookhaven near the New Hope community in rural Lincoln County, the Paxton House was built in two phases and is believed to have achieved its present form about 1858. As originally constructed circa 1831, the house was a log dogtrot with front and rear galleries. About 1858 the rear gallery was partially enclosed to create two cabinet rooms, the two log pens were covered with weatherboard, and the rear ell was added. The house retains a remarkable degree of architectural integrity from this mid-nineteenth century enlargement.

Situated on a gentle rise south of Bouie Mill Road Northwest, the Paxton House faces east onto a dirt road and is a one-and-one-half story, side-gabled, dogtrot form house with rear ell. The house rests on stone and wood foundation piers, and the roof is clad in corrugated metal. The walls of the main facade and dogtrot passage are covered in flushboard and finished with wide beaded baseboards, while the remainder of the house is clad in lapped weatherboard. At each end of the main house is an exterior end, shouldered, brick chimney while an interior brick chimney pierces the roof of the ell.

The main facade is three bays wide, featuring four-panel doors flanked by nine-over-six, double-hung windows in the outer bays and the open dogtrot passage in the central bay. The doors and windows are trimmed by beaded surrounds, and the windows are protected by louvered blinds. An undercut gallery spans the facade and features a wooden deck and plain box columns. Windows throughout the main house are nine-over-six, double-hung sash while those of the rear ell are six-over-six sash. An undercut gallery with plain posts and balustrade spans the north elevation of the ell and connects to the dogtrot passage. Two four-panel doors and two six-over-six windows open onto the ell gallery, and the western end of the gallery has been enclosed for bathroom space.

The interiors of the two main rooms feature flushboard walls, wide beaded baseboards, plain eared surrounds, and very wide fireplace openings with plain mantels with mantel shelf. The upper half story is accessed by a built-in ladder in the northern main room. The mantelpieces in the rear ell are simple Greek Revival, post-and-lintel mantels.

Behind the house is a gable-front, board-and-batten smokehouse with batten door and small window openings. This building is believed to date to the mid-nineteenth century and is counted as a contributing element.

8. STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Paxton House is architecturally significant on the local level as an intact, antebellum dogtrot-form house. Originally built circa 1831 as a log dogtrot with front and rear galleries, the house was enlarged circa 1858 by the enclosure of part of the rear gallery and the addition of a rear ell. At this time, the log walls were covered with weatherboard. The house retains a high degree of integrity on both its exterior and interior from its enlargement and remodelling circa 1858. Once a common house form in Mississippi, dogtrot houses that retain their central open passage are becoming increasingly rare. Although a comprehensive survey of Lincoln County has not been undertaken, the Paxton House is believed to be one of very few intact dogtrot-form houses remaining in the county.

Benjamin Paxton was born April 9, 1802, in Orangeburg County, South Carolina. In early 1830 Benjamin was living in East Feliciana Parish, Louisiana, with his parents but moved to Copiah County, now Lincoln County, Mississippi, by December 1830 when he was deeded 152 acres of land about 11 miles west of Brookhaven. (Lincoln County was created in 1870 from Copiah, Franklin, Lawrence, and Pike Counties.) He is believed to have built the log dogtrot-form Paxton House about 1831. About 1832 or 1833 Benjamin married Frances Lofton, who was born November 11, 1811, in Amite or Franklin County, Mississippi. By the time of his death on November 5, 1872, he had acquired 1013.10 acres of land. The house is presently owned by Benjamin and Frances Paxton's descendants.

10. GEOGRAPHICAL DATA

Verbal Boundary Description: The boundary of the nominated property consists of a square, the center of which is at the center of the roof ridge of the main roof of the house. Measuring 100 feet in each direction from the center of the roof ridge, the resulting square of land has sides that are 200 feet long and are parallel or perpendicular to the ridge of the main roof. This property is located in the SW 1/4 SW 1/4 NE 1/4 of Section 35, Township 8 North, Range 6 East.

Boundary Justification: The boundary was selected to include the house and smokehouse and their immediate setting. The present owners of the house own 107 acres of land, but because the house is being nominated strictly for architectural significance, this amount of acreage would be excessive for National Register purposes.
