A black and white photograph of a rectangular stone mausoleum. The structure is composed of several horizontal layers of stone. At the top, there is a wide, flat roof. Below the roof, a decorative band contains a nameplate with the word "CONRO" in capital letters. The nameplate is flanked by two small, square decorative panels. The central entrance is a dark, rectangular doorway framed by a simple, classical-style surround. The mausoleum sits on a low, wide base with a single step leading up to the doorway. The background shows a grassy area with trees and other distant structures, suggesting a cemetery setting.
