

NEBRASKA
HISTORICAL MARKER

THE LEWIS-SYFORD HOUSE

Elihu M. Lewis, early Nebraska pastor and missionary, built this French Second Empire style house in about 1875. The Syford family owned the property from 1904 until Mrs. Constance Syford died the house in 1995 to the Nebraska State Historical Society Foundation, which is responsible for its preservation. The Lewis-Syford House is the oldest remaining building on the University of Nebraska campus. It is listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

Lewis - Syford House LC13: D09-002

Lancaster County, Nebraska

Grant Landreth

22 January 2007

Original image at NeSHPO

View NE

Photo 1 of 8

Lewis-Syford 1.tif

Lewis-Syford House LC13: D09: 009

Lancaster County, Nebraska

Grant Landreth

22 January 2001

Original image at NESHPO

View E

Photo 2 of 8

Lewis-Syford 2.tif

Lewis-Syford House LC13: D09-002

Lancaster County, Nebraska

Grant Landreth

22 January 2007

Original image at NESHPO

View S

Photo 3 of 8

Lewis-Syford3.tif

Lewis-Syford House LC13: D09-002

Lancaster County, Nebraska

Grant Landreth

22 January 2007

Original image at NESTPO

View NW

Photo 4 of 8

Lewis-Syford4.tif

Lewis-Syford House

LC13:D09-002

Lancaster County, Nebraska

Grant Landreth

22 January 2007

Original image at NESHPO

View SE

Photo 5 of 8

Lewis-Syford5.tif

Lewis-Syford House

LC13:009-002

Lancaster County, Nebraska

Grant Landreth

22 January 2007

Original image at NESHPO

View: Interior

Photo 6 of 8

Lewis-Syford 6.tif

700

A black and white photograph of a dark door with two arched windows and a transom above. The transom contains the number '700'. The left window is clear, and the right window has a decorative pattern. The door is set in a dark wall.

Lewis-Syford House LC13:009-002

Lancaster County, Nebraska

Grant Landreth

22 January 2007

Original image at NeSHPO

View: Interior

Photo 7 of 8

Lewis-Syford7.tif

Lewis-Syford House

LC13:009-002

Lancaster County, Nebraska

Grant Landreth

22 January 2007

Original image at NeSHPO

View: Interior

Photo 8 of 8

Lewis-Syford 8.tif