Mt. Pleasant Christian Church

Statement of Significance

The Mt. Pleasant Christian Church is significant under criterion C for 1849 as an example of how Madison County builders used some of the elements of the Gothic Revival style such as the steeply-pitched roof and double-lancet windows to ornament a rural church building.

Verbal Boundary Justification

The boundary was chosen arbitrarily to preserve the building's setback from the road (US 25) and to provide a minimal setting for the building. The boundary is defined by the road (US 25) on the west and a fence on the east. The south boundary excludes a modern water tower.

The boundary includes one contributing building.
