

Ste. Genevieve, Missouri

Louis Bolduc erected this home around 1875. The restored building is now administered by the Colonial Dames. Front elevation.

Photo by Mattison

Louis Bolduc House

September, 1959

St. Germe--Amoureux House. St. Genevieve, Missouri

NPS photo 1967

Green Tree Tavern (1790), Janis-Zieglor House, St. Genevieve, Mo.

NPS photo 1967

This building, known as Meilleur House, is a two-story frame structure, built about 1815 by Rene Meilleur, son-in-law of Louis Bolduc, as a private dwelling. In 1837, five sisters of Loretta opened this building as a school which they conducted at that place until 1848. Camera pointing to the northwest.

Photo by Mattison
September 1959

The Senator Lewis F. Linn House, Merchant Street West of Second Street, Ste. Genevieve. This house, a two-story white frame structure set at the edge of the sidewalk, was built by Dr. Linn in 1827, three years before he became senator. It is typical of many New England types of structures built by the first American settlers in Ste. Genevieve. Camera pointing to the northwest.

Photo by Mattison
September 1959

Mammy Shaw House at the corner of Second and Merchant Streets. This building purportedly erected about 1885, is one of the oldest structures in Ste. Genevieve. It is now used as a restaurant. Camera pointing to the southwest.

Photo by Mattison
September 1959

Portion of the Louisiana Academy Building on northwest corner of Fifth and Washington Streets, Ste. Genevieve. This structure is a portion of a $2\frac{1}{2}$ story stone building completed about 1810. Camera pointing to the south.

Photo by Mattison
September, 1959

The Janis-Ziegler House, known as the Green Tree Tavern, at 244 St. Mary's Route, Ste. Genevieve. This building has played an important part in Missouri history. It was built prior to 1790 by a Francois Janis for use as a tavern and inn. It now serves as a private residence. Camera pointing to the northwest.

Photo by Mattison
September, 1959

J. B. Valle House, located at the corner of Main and Market Streets, Ste. Genevieve. This residence of Gene Baptiste Valle, Third Commandant of Ste. Genevieve, was built in 1782 and was the "State House" for all inhabitants of the territory up to the time of the Louisiana Purchase. Camera pointing to the west-northwest.

Photo by Mattison
September, 1959