

This photo furnished by:
Bureau of Publicity and Information
304 Dexter Avenue
Montgomery, Alabama

The world's only monument to an insect, the Boll Weevil Monument at Enterprise, has received world-wide attention. When boll weevils invaded the cotton fields, one-crop agriculture gave way to diversified farming and industry. This area of Alabama now leads the nation in peanut production. The monument, in downtown Enterprise, serves as a lasting reminder to the citizens as well as an interesting attraction for travelers.