STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE (Include Personages, Dates, Events, Etc.)

James A. Rankin came to Columbus from Ayrshire in Scotland. He was married to Agnes Affleck on January 2, 1839, whose family had moved to Columbus from Haddenton, Scotland. The potential prosperity of Columbus was attracting settlers from far and near. Mr. Rankin acquired the present Rankin House property in 1860 for $6,000.00.

At the end of the hostilities Mr. Rankin was discouraged over the situation in Columbus as well as elsewhere in the South. Turning his new home over temporarily to his eldest child, Mrs. Emma Jane Rankin Lockhart and her husband, he left for Scotland with his wife and other children. His three sons, Edwin James Rankin, John A. Rankin, and William Rankin entered the University of Edinburg, where they remained for six years, after which the two former became prominent business men in Columbus. Edwin Rankin was a Director of the Georgia Midland and Gulf Railroad and the Swift Spinning Mills. He also served as a County Commissioner as well as on the Board of Water Commission sioners.

According to a newspaper article in 1898, the Rankin House was considered the finest home within the existing city limits of Columbus; it was valued at $18,500.00.

The Rankin House is the only existing example of this style of architecture remaining in the metropolitan area of a quartermillion people. It is similar in detail to houses of the same period in Natchez and New Orleans. It is situated in an area formerly called "high uptown." Much of the area has now been encroached upon by business. The Peabody-Warner House directly across the street was accepted for the National Register on December 30, 1970. The house directly to the South of the Rankin House is soon to be submitted for consideration for inclusion in the National Register. Together these three houses are the only remaining vestinge of affluence formerly prominent in this area. According to a recently passed Columbus zoning ordinance, any house accepted by the National Register will be given a "Landmark Status" locally. This meanse that all alterations, improvements, partial demolitions, et cetra, will be subject to review by the local Board of Historic and Architectural Review. (continued...)

The Historic Columbus Foundation, Inc. acquired this property in 1969. The downstairs rooms have been restored as a historic house museum of the 1850-1870 period. All of the furnishings have been authenticated by the Curator of the Victorian Wing of the Brooklyn Museum. Several items originally used by the Rankin family are in the Museum rooms today including: an ornate gilt mantle mirror and matching cornice boards; a 14' walnut Victorian pier mirror with matching cornice boards; and a pair of alabaster urns.

The House was officially opened to the public in December, 1969. Two regular tours of the house are available each week. It may also be rented for social and civic gatherings. The upstairs rooms are occupied as the offices of the Junior League of Columbus, Georgia. Many social and economic groups in Columbus aided in the restoration. It is in reality "a community house."

The Rankin House is a participant in a project entitled "Experiences in Living History" under the auspices of the Muscogee County School District. As such it is a teaching museum for students and teachers from Muscogee County and nine surrounding counties in Georgia.
