Narrative Description (Describe the historic and current condition of the property on one or more continuation sheets.)

Civilian Conservation Corps workers built the three-sided Adirondack style Lake Guerin East Shelter Cabin as part of the Admiralty Island Canoe Route in the 1930s. It had a peeled log superstructure and shake walls and roof.

The cabin is a jumble of flattened timbers and shakes, some bleached white and some moss-covered, with galvanized nails jutting from the wood. The site is overgrown with pushke, skunk cabbage, and other plants. A short stretch of puncheon boardwalk, made of log stringers and shakes, leads from the cabin site to the lake. It might have been a boat haul-out. A ruined plywood skiff, once painted yellow, is imbedded in the sod near the lake.
