ARCHITECTURAL SIGNIFICANCE This house is a good example of the traditional upright and wing form, as influenced by the picturesque styles of the later 19th century. Here the basic form is enlivened by touches of Gothic Revival detail (drip moldings over windows) and a variety of millwork decoration, as usual displayed most prominently on the porch and gable end.

HISTORICAL DATA

Henry J. Ebeling, a local carpenter, first occupied this house in 1888. Because of Ebeling's trade, it is very likely that he was the contractor on this dwelling.
