STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE (Include Personages, Dates, Events, Etc.)

Only three or four Greek Revival churches are to be found in Nebraska, created as a territory in 1854. Emmanuel Lutheran Church is probably Nebraska's best, purest, and least altered example of Greek Revival ecclesiastical architecture. The structure is believed to be not only the oldest but also the very first Lutheran church built in Nebraska.

The congregation which built the church was organized in July, 1859, by Rev. Henry W. Kuhns, a Lutheran missionary sent by Allegheny Synod to Nebraska Territory in 1858. In the spring and summer of 1860, during Kuhns' pastorate, the church was designed and constructed at a cost of $2000 by Augustus T. Haase, a member of the congregation. A carpenter by trade, Haase was born in Germany and came to Dakota City in 1858. Before Nebraska became a state in 1867, the building served for several years as a territorial county courthouse on weekdays and as a church on Sundays. Kuhns' successor as pastor of the church was Dr. Samuel Aughey, who came to Nebraska in 1864 and later became one of Nebraska's best known natural scientists.
