Built in 1842 by Colonel Leroy Napier, Sr., this house is believed to have been designed by Elias Carter, and is almost identical to the house built by Colonel Napier's brother, Skelton, located on Rogers Avenue (now owned by Ralph Small) which too, is attributed to Mr. Carter.

Originally built on a 125-acre site with terraced gardens and a deer park, this house contained 26 rooms and had 19 marble steps leading to the entrancesporch. It was moved to its present restricted location, adjacent to its original site, to make room for Lanier Senior High School which was constructed on the original site.

The most dominating architectural feature of this house is the front elevation, composed of a first floor (entrance) and second floor porch, extending the full width of the house. There are six columns, four Greek Doric (fluted) intermediate columns and two square columns (not fluted) at the corners. These columns extend the full two-story height and support a cornice which is not fully developed in that there are no mutules, no triglyphs, and the gutlae is continuous and not located just over the columns.

The frieze contains inverted laurel wreaths (at porch only). The window and door details are simple, but well defined. The 19 marble steps, as a result of relocation, have given way to fewer and less impressive concrete steps. Other than this, the exterior has undergone little change.

The interior has been altered to the extent necessary for it to contain several apartments, which are now rented.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE (Include Personages, Dates, Events, Etc.)

This large, columned house is similar in architecture to the Napier-Small house on Rogers Avenue in Macon. The Mapier brothers, Skelton and Leroy, built these almost identical houses thought to be designed by Elias Carter.

The one located on Napier Avenue was built in 1842 on a 125acre estate extending back to Pio Nono Avenue and containing a deer park. The house was moved to its present location about fifty years ago to make way for Lanier High School.

Colonel Leroy Napier, Sr. made the largest individual investment in the Confederate Loan Fund, subscribing $58,000 in Confederate bonds in 1861. Six of his seven sons were in the Confederate Army, and a son-in-law, Dr. S. E. Chaille, was surgeon in charge of the Academy Hospital.

Colonel Napier's son, F. Leroy Napier, a former member of the U. S. Cavalry and a graduate of West Point, was elected captain of the Bibb County Cavalry in March, 1861. He served as captain of the Napier Artillery, organized in 1861, which was one of the finest equipped batteries of light artillery in the Confederate service. Napier was later Adjutant of the 10th Georgia Infantry.

The house was occupied by the family until shortly before it was moved from its original site. It is now owned by Isaac Cravey who purchased it in a state of disrepair and has restored it to a satisfactory condition.

An outstanding Elias Carter house of solid Greek Revival architecture.
