First church on site, built approximately 1708, measured 40 feet long by 25 feet wide. In 1733 it was altered and enlarged to a cruciform shape of 40 feet long by 52 feet wide with a chancel of 12 feet deep and 24 feet wide. This building was destroyed by fire in 1764 and probably rebuilt the same year.

Exterior: Present building dates from 1764 and is cruciform in shape. Main entrance is at the west end of the building at the base of the cross. Facade consists of a six-panel double door. In the gable is a clear glass oculus with mullions. Facades of the nave consist of three 12/12 double sashed windows to each side, surmounted by semicircular fan windows. The sides of the transepts have the same type windows as does the nave: one window to a side and a total of four. The gable ends of the transept match the facade of the base of the nave. The chancel contains a single 12/12 window with a semicircular window to either side; the chancel facade consists of a centrally-placed, but raised, semicircular window. Quoins are located on all outer corners. The cornice at the eaves is denticulated.

Interior: A central aisle runs from entrance to chancel and intersects a front aisle which runs from one transept door to the other at the altar. The floor is paved with unglazed square tiles. Ceiling has elliptical vaulting with carved moulding at the base. To either side of the entrance are enclosed staircases extending to a small gallery above the main entrance. Pews are three-panelled and boxed with doors, probably original. Reredos, pulpit, altar rail, kneeling stand probably date from the early 19th Century. Altar rail is supported by unique cast-iron balustrade; rail of pulpit, which lacks a sounding board, is supported by a wrought iron balustrade. Walls have four commemorative tablets: two of these are early 19th Century; the other two are contemporary. Above the chancel window is a cherub, probably dating from the 19th Century.

Surroundings: Building endangered by commercialization and urban expansion along South Carolina Highway 61. Nomination includes cemetery and church school building.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Architecture: Building maintains the architectural integrity of a rural colonial parish church of the 1760s. Use of cast and wrought iron in balustrade of altar rail and pulpit is unique.

Black History and Education: Church was involved in early efforts (1713) to educate and Christianize slaves of the various members of the church.

Political: With the passage of the Church Act in 1706 by the Colonial South Carolina Assembly, this church became one of the administrative centers of colonial government, serving as a place where proclamations and public notices were read and posted; vital statistics in the form of marriages, births, baptisms, deaths and burials were recorded; poor relief was dispensed; and destitute orphans were apprenticed.

Social/Humanitarian: On several occasions, the church raised money to be contributed to the settlement of the Colony of Georgia and for the relief of sufferers from the fire of Charleston in 1740.
