This house is a roughly coursed fieldstone, one room in width, two stories high. It displays evidence of Strong Swedish influence, probably due to the employment of Swedish artisons. It was built in two sections, one in 1710 and the other in 1793.

EXTERIOR:

In the 1710 section there are three bays with six over six sash, paneled shutters and curved arches. In the 1793 section there are two bays with nine over six sash on the first floor and six over six sash on the second. There are paneled shutters but no arches. The roof of the earlier portion was raised to conform to the new and slightly higher roof of the 1793 section. It is a shingled roof.

INTERIOR:

All the floors are wood random width plank. The walls and ceiling on the first floor are plastered, the walls on the second floor are plastered and the ceilings are beamed. The 1793 wing contains some very fine original paneling, cornice work and a good, round-headed corner cupboard.

TATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE This house was built by one of the earliest settling families in the area, the Burroughs. The first use of the property as an actual residence was when it was purchased by Richard Heritage in 1695. He built a home here, possibly a log cabin, called "Hatten New Garden." There are no traces remaining of this home.

From Richard Heritage, the property passed to his son Joseph who in May, 1697 sold 137 acres to Samuel Burrough. The Burrough family had moved from Long Island and by the time of Samuel's death in 1732 they had purchased 2500 acreas of land in the area.

In 1699 Samuel had married Hannah Roberts, the daughter of another earlier settler. Title of the land and the house which was built in 1710 passed to their son John. In 1726 john married Phoebe Haines. They had ten children and it was their ninth child, Enoch, who inherited the property on January 24, 1754. The deed is in the archives of the Camden County Historical Society.

Enoch's son Thomas inherited the house and it is his and his wife's initials which are seen on the West addition along with the date, 1793.

In 1834 Thomas' children parcelled the land and the acreage containing the house was sold in 1834.to Daniel Brooks. The house was then sold to the Dover family in 1838. The property remained in the hands of the Dovers until March of 1960 when it came into the hands of Camden County and consequently to the Pennsauken Historical Society.
