A black and white photograph of a brick wall. In the center, there is a decorative diamond-shaped frame made of bricks. Inside this frame, the year '1910' is embossed in a stylized font. The wall is composed of standard bricks with visible mortar lines. Above the diamond frame, there is a horizontal ledge or course of bricks. Below the frame, there are two rectangular concrete blocks, one on the left and one on the right, which appear to be part of a larger architectural element like a window or door frame.
