The image shows a detailed view of a classical-style doorway. The arch is supported by two large, intricately carved corbels. Above the arch is a decorative frieze with floral and scrollwork patterns. The fanlight window above the door is filled with a geometric pattern of circles and lines. The number '21' is prominently displayed in a small square frame in the center of the fanlight. The entire structure is set within a larger architectural frame with a pediment above.
