A black and white photograph of a storefront for a business named "Gift Gallery". The building is constructed of brick. The upper portion of the facade features a dark, vertically-ribbed section where the name "Gift Gallery" is written in a large, white, cursive script. Above this section are two rectangular, multi-paned windows. A bare tree stands in front of the building, its branches partially obscuring the upper windows. The lower portion of the storefront is a brick wall with a large, horizontally-oriented oval window and a glass door to its left. The oval window has a dark, rounded frame. A white car is parked on the street in the foreground, partially visible on the right side. The scene is captured in high contrast, with deep shadows and bright highlights.
