RE: Delisting of the Arcade Theatre, Calcasieu Parish, LA

Dear Mr. Gabbert:

The purpose of this letter is to notify you of our intent to delist the above property from the National Register of Historic Places. Originally listed on the Register on July 7, 1978, the above property was destroyed by fire in 1985 and is now a vacant lot. Per 36 CFR 60, Sec. 60.15 (a)(1), we are requesting that the above property be officially delisted based on the fact that the property has ceased to meet the criteria for listing in the National Register because the qualities which caused it to be originally listed have been destroyed. To support this claim, we have included an image from www.cinematreasures.com showing the location of the former theater and a short history and an article on the theater from the Calcasieu Historical Preservation Society. We also conferred with a business owner of the lot next door to the former theater who confirmed the theater is gone and the lot is now owned by MidSouth Bank.

We have notified the property owner and the chief elected official and have included copies of those letters with this submission. No responses were received.

If you have any questions concerning our request, please contact our National Register Coordinator, Jessica Richardson via email at jrichardson@crt.la.gov or by phone at 225-219-4595.

Sincerely,

Phil Boggan
State Historic Preservation Officer

The Arcade Theater was built in 1910 as a vaudeville and motion picture theater. From 1959 to 1965 the Arcade Theater was used for live performances. By 1965 the building was in such disrepair that it had to be closed down. In 1985 the theater was in the process of being restored by the Calcasieu Preservation Society when a fire broke out and destroyed the building.

The Arcade Theater was added to the National Register of Historic Places (#78001420) in 1978.

Ghost Buildings That Helped to Create Southwest Louisiana
By: Adley Cormier
Postcard from the collection of Trent Gremillion

These important structures, now lost, helped to create Southwest Louisiana and helped to define our economy, culture and unique lifestyle today.

Though lost by fire, or neglect or demolition, these lost structures were important to our corner of Louisiana.

The Arcade Theatre in the 800 block of Ryan Street. It hosted plays, operas, concerts; it hosted Houdini, the St Louis Symphony, the Barrymores. Because of Texas blue laws, shows and big acts that closed in New Orleans on Saturday, performed there on Sunday before opening in Texas on Mondays. (Lost by accidental arson)

The Train Stations for Union Pacific (where the Safety Council is now), for Kansas City Southern (near the Brickhouse on Ryan and Pryce Streets), and for Southern Pacific (at Bilbo and Railroad Avenue). Railroads helped to make Southwest Louisiana and all three handled freight and passengers. At one time there were 12 train departures to New Orleans or Houston, and 6 each to Alexandria and Shreveport. (Lost by demolition as passenger and freight needs changed)

The Majestic Hotel (parking lot at Pujo and Bilbo) was the place to stay in Southwest Louisiana for over half a century. One of its claims to fame was that every president from Teddy Roosevelt to John F. Kennedy slept at the hotel—although not necessarily while they were president! It was also famous for its cinnamon rolls. During the Great Fire, the Majestic pumped water from its own water plant on the buildings surrounding it to save it and them. (Demolished for a never-built office tower)

The Calcasieu State Bank (parking lot at Ryan and Pujo) was the first brick bank and towered over practically everything else downtown. It was one of the buildings that the Majestic saved, but neither could be saved from so-called urban renewal in the 1960's and 1970's. (Demolished for parking)

The Paramount Movie Palace (parking lot middle of the 800 block). One of 18 area movie theatres in the heyday of downtown, the Paramount was far and away the most luxurious and beautiful. There were plush lobbies upstairs and down, real leather and velour seats, and ushers and usherettes. (Demolished for parking)

Ferry Landings for the Borealis Rex and the Hazel. Before the Civic Center, the lake was much larger and extended to what was then called Front Street. It's now Lakeshore drive. This was a working part of town with rail sidings, wharves, warehouses and ferry landings for several scheduled ferries. This is before interstate highways and even before most paved roads. You would have to take a ferry to get to Westlake or to Cameron. Above the ferry buildings were amusement halls and markets. (Neglected after the bridges, demolished to build Civic Center and landfill)

The Streetcar Barn. Lake Charles had streetcars as early as 1894 and when needing service or repairs they lived at the Streetcar barn (on Kirkman south of Railroad Ave). Streetcar lines expanded just after the Great Fire to cover most of the city from Gieffers Street in Goosport to the old Fairgrounds and Racetrack on Gulf Street (near TS Cooley School) and from Lake Street to Enterprise Boulevard. When the lines were discontinued in 1927, the company that had run them gave each employee a brand new car and a business plan to operate private taxi services. (Demolished as streetcars were phased out)

Barbe Pier, a pleasure pier that extended two hundred feet into the lake, was a center of entertainment and recreation. It hosted dances, concerts, exhibitions, vaudeville shows and lectures. It was built over the water helped to keep patrons cool in the era before air conditioning. (Demolished as obsolete in the age of radio, movies and television)

The Kansas City Southern Rail end repair shops were located just east of the crossing of Lakeshore Drive and I-10. Rolling stock needing work would park on one of the many tracks there to be serviced. When the interstate right of way was developed those tracks were spanned by one of the longest overpasses built along I-10. (Demolished when facility was relocated to west Calcasieu)

The Lake Charles Rice Mill, at the foot of Kirkman Street and the Calcasieu River, for a time was the largest rice mill in the world and served to secure this area as the most important rice port in America. In the early part of the twentieth century, the commodity price of rice for the nation was set at that mill. (Abandonded, then demolished in phases)

The Brimstone and Sulphur Mine plants in Sulphur, LA was where Herman Frasch invented the process to send super heated water down to dissolve and capture sulfur deposits. The returning sulfur-rich slurry was allowed to dry in 100 by 400 foot vats. When cured, the sulfur was broken up and sent by rail to be shipped from a depot on the Sabine River. The discovery and mining of sulfur broke the Italian sulfur monopoly and enabled the American chemical industry to flourish. (Abandoned as source of sulphur played out)

Gerstner Field, off Old Camp Road, just south of the LA 14/La 27 junction at Holmwood, southeast of Lake Charles. This was the first military airfield in Louisiana and was specifically developed to train instructors and aviators for World War I. The airfield was in operation from 1917 through 1922 when it was dismantled, leaving runways and foundations. Five hundred airmen were trained there including Claire Chennault and Jimmy Doolittle. (Designed as a temporary facility, only foundations remain)

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Arcade is a 1910 brick theatre which is set in the main commercial area of Lake Charles. It is situated immediately to the rear of the Miller Commercial building on Ryan Street. The theatre is entered from Ryan Street by means of a one story passageway which passes through the center of the Miller Building and into the theatre lobby. This is the only public entrance. The Miller Building and the passageway were replaced in 1927 after a fire. The present passageway was remodeled in 1935. It is divided into bays by Corinthian pilasters and recessed ceiling panels.

The theatre itself has brick bearing walls and a wood truss roof with steel tie rods. Thin steel columns support the theatre's two balconies. The total seating capacity is 920.

The most conspicuous aspect of the interior is its plaster decorative work. Decorative features such as moldings, aedicules, entablatures, ornamental grill work, brackets and medallions were ordered from the Decorator's Supply Catalogue of Chicago. These features were applied without regard to unity of style or character. For example, the lower balcony is decorated with heavy rococo scroll panels and cartouches. By contrast the upper balcony is decorated with delicate Adamesque garlands.

The area of the stage presents similar contrasts. The procenium is richly ornamented with Baroque cartouches, cherubs and other forms. Other areas, notably the ceiling above the stage, have restrained classical ornamentation. This type of contrast can be seen in the bay seat balconies as well. Despite these disparities, all the plaster ornamentation is well executed and in good condition.

The theatre itself is structurally sound and has not been significantly altered. The boundaries of the nomination include the theatre, the passageway and the Miller Building. Although the passageway is not original, the present one is over 50 years old and it follows the original plan. The passageway could not stand independently of the Miller Building so it was decided to include the Miller Building as well.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

From its inception the Arcade was an important and popular focal point for the performing arts in the Lake Charles area. It drew crowds from the surrounding parishes as well as eastern Texas. On the theatre's opening night, for example, a special train brought people from the DeRidder area. Other towns including Welsh, Longville, Lake Arthur, and Jennings, were also represented. The regional significance of the Arcade is also shown by the fact that when famous performers came to the area, the Arcade was where they entertained. Raymond Hitchcock appeared in traditional Shakesperian roles, while Ethel Barrymore played in popular melodramas. Johnny Jones and other popular vaudville troups appeared regularly. Other performers included renowned dancers Isadora Duncan and Ruth St. Denis, as well as the Russian Ballet, and John Philip Sousa with the U. S. Marine Band. Famous magicians including Blackstone and Houdini also appeared.

Because of its location midway between New Orleans and Houston, many traveling performers stopped and entertained at Lake Charles. This importance as a stopping place was enhanced by a "blue law" in Texas which forbade theatrical performances on Sundays. As a result, the Arcade was often a convenient place for traveling theatrical troups to stage a Sunday night performance enroute to Texas.

In addition to its theatrical significance, the Arcade also served as a center for social life in Lake Charles. From 1910 to 1973 when it closed, the Arcade was the place where townspeople met for all types of community activities. These included political gatherings, charity benefits, amateur theatricals, Thanksgiving and Easter Services, high school plays and graduation ceremonies. Numerous clubs, civic groups, and associations used it for regular meetings. As a result, many Lake Charles residents have a strong personal relationship with the Arcade, because they identify it with memorable events in their lives.

The Arcade also enjoys minor architectural signficance. It was designed by I. C. Carter, a prolific local architect who was responsible for many buildings in the Lake Charles area. The theatre is also notable for its hight quality, catalogue ordered, plaster ornamentation.

RE: Delisting of the Arcade Theater, Calcasieu Parish, LA

To Whom it May Concern:

The purpose of this letter is to notify you of our intent to petition for the removal of the above referenced property from the National Register of Historic Places, a process known as delisting. This step is important as we strive to maintain an accurate record of properties in our state that are listed in the Register, still extant, and maintain integrity per National Register Criteria. In many cases, buildings were destroyed many years ago and the official delisting paperwork was not completed. We have made this task a priority for 2016. Per information from the Calcasieu Parish tax assessor, you are the current owner of the land where the listed resource once stood. As part of this process, we are required to notify the current owner of this action.

The Arcade Theater was listed on the National Register on 7/7/1978. According to the Federal National Register regulations [36 CFR 6-.15 (a)(1)], a property may be delisted if it has ceased to meet the criteria for listing on the National Register because the qualities which caused it to be originally listed have been lost or destroyed. Per several articles found online, the building was destroyed by fire in 1985 and subsequently demolished. Because the building, and its qualities that caused it to have been listed, are destroyed, this property will be proposed for removal from the National Register. The final delisting decision will be made by the Keeper of the National Register at the National Park Service.

The regulations [36 CFR 60.15 (g)] also require that the property's owner be given an opportunity to comment and the chief elected official notified of the proposed action. If you choose to comment, please respond via letter by May 27th, 2016 to the following address:
