DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Wait-Newton House, a second Empire styled house, is rectangular in plan with a central projection on the south (front) facade, a projection on the west, and two projecting bays on the east. The first east bay is rectangular with twin two over two, rectangular windows; while the second is elliptical with semi-circular topped windows, faced with stone beginning at the top of the stone impost.

The shingled roof is a high mansard with 12 segmental dormers.

The south projection contains the main entry, a small interior porch framed in a Roman arch. The porch is decorated in panels and colonnettes.

The double doors have single elliptical topped lights and panels below. The transom is semi-circular.

Above the entrance are twin windows with elliptical hood-moulds. Windows on the building proper are two over two double hung and have straight hood moulds.

Originally, the structure had a bracketed cornice and roof cresting. The roof finish was slate. A porch starting at the entrance bay ran along the front of the building and terminated at the southeast corner. The present owners intend to replace these missing parts.

The entrance hall is wide and has a stair with rosewood baluster leading to the second floor. The original interior shutters are still in place.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The historic Packet House, located at 1406 Cantrell Road in Little Rock, overlooks what is now one of the busiest thoroughfares in the city. In 1869, at the time the house was constructed, Cantrell Road, then known as Lincoln Avenue as named by the men who first built dwellings there, was considered quite a distance from Little Rock. The men who constructed dwellings on this road had all either been associated with the north during the Civil War or had come into the area during the Reconstruction period. The slight hill on which the Packet House rests is where several large, expensive structures were built using the cheap labor of the defeated South. Therefore, Lincoln Avenue was somewhat less than affectionately called "Rober's Row" or "Carpetbagger's Row" for many years. The Packet House is the oldest of five brick homes built shortly after the Civil War on the north side of Lincoln Avenue and is the only remaining structure of the original "Carpetbagger's Row" Mansions.

Architecturally, the Packet House is significant in its example of Second Empire Style. Buildings of the Second Empire Style are generally tall, boldly modeled and three-dimensional in effect. The Packet House is a tall, two and one-half story brick structure with a mansard roof. Many of the original features of the house remain intact, such as interior window shutters.

The Packet House was built in 1869 by Alexander McDonald. McDonald was living in Kansas when the war broke out. He took a leading role in the raising of troops for the Union Army, and for a time supported three regiments at his own expense. Mr. McDonald first came to Little Rock as a Union soldier during the War and later returned to make it his home. He was only in his early thirties when he built the Packet House. He was a member of the State Constitutional Convention of 1868 and a United States Senator from Arkansas from 1868-1871. He was commissioned by President Arthur to examine conditions of the Railroads, and was a delegate to the National Republican Convention of 1888 which nominated Benjamin Harrison for President. Senator McDonald was considered the richest man in the state of Arkansas. He established and was president of a bank at Ft. Smith, Arkansas. He was president of Merchants National Bank in Little Rock, which later became what is now 1st National Bank of Little Rock. Senator McDonald was defeated in his bid for re-election in 1871, sold his home and left the state.

Next to buy the Packet House was Mr. William B. Wait. Mr. Wait moved to Arkansas Post in 1830 from Knoxville, Tennessee, where he entered the merchandising business as a clerk in Colonel Notrebe's store. He later began his own dealings in Real Estate Collections and Exchange. He, like Senator McDonald, was president of Merchant's National Bank and an officer in the bank presently known as 1st National Bank. The Waits were known for their "At Home" Days, musicals and whist parties, and entertained often. They built a stage in the Packet House stable loft where theatricals were frequently presented.

The next owner was Mrs. Jacob Reider who was the daughter of Archibald McHenry, builder of the Stage Coach House on the old Hot Springs Highway. That house, which is on the National Register, was built in 1830, making it one of the oldest houses in Arkansas. Ann McHenry Reider and her two daughters and their families moved to 1406 Lincoln Avenue in 1887. The two daughters had married brothers, Tom and Robert Newton. It was the Newton Family Home through four generations until it was sold in 1946.

Upon the sale of the Pakcet House in 1946 to Mr. and Mrs. Latane Temple and Frank Campbell, it was converted into twelve apartments. The Temples named the structure the Packet House because it overlooked the river once plied by packet boats to which government papers and mail were entrusted.

The Packet House has recently been purchased by two businessmen who recognize the aesthetic as well as economic advantage to be derived in preservation of the house. A thorough restoration is being undertaken, complete in detailing to the replacement of the original porch. The owners plan to utilize the house for office space.

The Packet House is the only representative of the elegant dwellings constructed on Lincoln Avenue shortly after the Civil War. With great pride, the citizens of Little Rock, as they drive along the busy thoroughfare, are seeing the Packet House being restored to its original appearance. Resting regally on its original location, the Packet House stands out as an architectural and historical landmark in Little Rock.

Re: Packet House
Little Rock, Pulaski County

Dear Mr. and Mrs. McDougal:

The staff of the Arkansas Historic Preservation Program is preparing a National Register nomination for the Packet House which will be presented to the Arkansas State Review Committee at their September meeting. If approved, the nomination will be submitted to the National Register office in Washington for final consideration.

The National Register of Historic Places is a listing of historic sites, buildings, objects and districts from all across the country that are worthy of preservation.

Entry in the National Register is an honor which places no obligation on a private owner. It does, however, provide protection through comment by the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation from federally financed, assisted or licensed projects that might affect a National Register property.

On October 4, 1976, the President signed a Tax Reform Act of which Section 2124 refers to tax incentives for historic properties. Enclosed you will find an information sheet on that tax act.

If you have any questions concerning the program or this property's nomination, please contact Sandra Taylor of our staff.

Enclosed are two copies of this letter. Please complete the form below, sign and return the original to our office. The copy is for your files. We would appreciate receiving any comments you might have concerning the nomination of this property. If we do not hear from you within 30 days, your approval will be assumed.

Sincerely,

Barbara Woodard

Barbara Woodard, Deputy Director
Arkansas Historic Preservation Program

I approve of the nomination of the above property to the National Register of Historic Places.
