A black and white photograph of the entrance to the Hollywood Woman's Club. The building features a prominent arched doorway with a decorative pediment. The pediment is divided into several rectangular panels. In the center of the pediment, a sign reads "HOLLYWOOD WOMAN'S CLUB". Below the sign, the address "501" is displayed. The entrance is flanked by two classical columns. Above the pediment, there are two large, bell-shaped light fixtures and a smaller, lantern-style light fixture. The roof is gabled, and the siding is visible on the upper part of the building.
