DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Homes in this area are in a Denver Urban Renewal planned project for the Auraria Higher Education Complex. Title to the properties will eventually be transferred to a public body such as the Colorado Higher Education Commission or to Historic Denver, Inc. Final details at present are being worked out. Historic Denver, Inc. has a $100,000. committment for restoration work to be carried out under its auspices.

Most of the interiors of the homes contain a good semblance of their original appearance and would be rehabilitated rather than restored. The exterior needs are primarily cosmetic.

A Victorian jewel is #1015, a brick villa with an angular Mansard roof, prefectly proportioned, and tastefully embellished. #1027 is an asymetrical brick with a Mansard roof and a domed tower. The dome of the tower and the box bay are unique in this district. The exterior of this home retaines its 19th century appearance except for the painted brick and the missing tin panels on the roof. #1059 is an outstanding example of the application of the Mansard roof to a relatively small cubical structure. The roof is covered with metal panels.

On one corner is #1068, a cubical Italianate villa surrounded by an iron fence set in a low stone retaining wall. There are projecting eaves and a trelised veranda. #'s 1024 and 1061 are also cubical Italianate villas, however, with porches that are not original and will be replaced with original wooden porches from similar buildings in auraria.

The two story brick twon house at 1041 has a bay extending the full height of the structure and has tall windows.

#1033 is one of the few reamining 19th centruy frame houses in Denver with its shingled tower, iron cresting and stick style porch. #1020 (Casa Mayan Restaurant) is a plain two story house with clapboard siding, is simple, but with appropriate refurbishing, the contrast with the surrounding brick structures would be refreshing and representative of the earliest remaining wooden homes.

The turn of the century red brick cottages have hipped roofs, neoclassical decoration, central dormer windows, and tall chimneys, slightly flared at the top, #'s 1056 and 1051.

Other house numbers are 1050, 1044, 1045-7 (a double house), and 1023 on 9th Street, and 906 Curtis Street.

There at least 22 principle structures in the block, 11 accessory structures, many original red stone sidewalks which were the elegant replacement for the boardwalk, 63 trees and various iron and other fences.

The homes are compact and closely arranged occupying a relatively small land area of approximately $3\frac{1}{2}$ acres.

Plans include relocating a few homes from nearby streets which are also architecturally distinctive and of the same era6|to| From with those on 9th Street.
