DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Main Street Historic District in Damariscotta, Maine, is comprised of twnety-four architecturally significant buildings. These buildings, primarily commercial in nature, are cohesive in terms of their placement along a single village street, and for the most part date from the period 1845-1857, since a fire destroyed most of the town's commercial area in 1845. The buildings are not only well maintained, but they are also little altered from their original state. With one exception. 20th-century construction has been very careful to seek compatibility in scale and materials with the older buildings.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Damariscotta was originally a part of two towns, Bristol and Nobleboro. Before its incorporation as a town in 1847, it was called Walpole. Located on the Eastern shore of the Damariscotta River, at the head of navigable waters, it is within the bounds of the first deed given in the territory of the state, by Samoset, to John Brown in 1625.

John Brown lived in the area of the present town for fifty years. At the time of King Phillip's War, he and his family fled to Boston, but his son returned and settled in the vicinity. After 1730 settlement increased in Sheepscot, Newcastle and Bristol. The first dwelling house to appear in what was to be Damariscotta was built in 1754. Other dwellings followed and the settlement grew as shipbuilding prospered.

A fire in 1845 destroyed all the buildings in the present district but three: the Cottrill, Austin and Fly Houses. The main street was rebuilt quickly, materials coming forth from the brickyards along the river. By 1875 all the buildings in the district as we know it today had been constructed, with the exception of three modern structures: the First National Building, the Colby and Gale Mobil Station and the Damariscotta Bank and Trust Company Building, and three buildings of the late 19th century; two stores and the William Metcalf Livery Stable.

Fortunately the buildings in the district have been little altered. Their original character remains. The commercial purposes for which they were built remains the same, with variations. (The Cottrill House is presently a dental office, the Metcalf Livery is two shops, the Austin House is a clothing shop.)

During the middle of the 19th century when most of the buildings were built, Damariscotta, although too far from the ocean to be an important seaport, was ideally located for shipbuilding, an industry which was carried on in a large scale. The post-fire commercial development of Main Street was largely based on economic prosperity derived from this activity.

Architecturally, Main Street faithfully retains its mid-century stylistic ambiance. Later structures have, fortunately, been compatibly designed for the most part and retain the prevailing scale.

159 Main Street

Labeled as #1 in the original inventory, this large, two-story, Colonial Revival style building is wood framed with brick veneer on the first floor, and clapboards above. The building has a flat roof edged with a heavy, moulded cornice and frieze board. A similar moulding acts as a belt course, dividing the brick siding from the clapboards. The front of the building is separated from the road by a sidewalk and granite curb and to the west a small alley separates the building from the neighboring brick block. A party wall is shared with the commercial structure to the east. A large, two story commercial addition extends from the south elevation. Behind the building (and indeed, behind the entire south side of Main Street) is a large parking lot reclaimed from former shipyards. This parking lot is lower in elevation than Main Street and as such the back doors into the building enter at basement level.

Currently the building contains three store fronts. At the east end is a four bay unit with three large plate glass windows with applied muntins and a recessed entrance with an aluminum and glass door. (The easternmost bay is only one-story high). This unit is occupied by the United States Post Office. The next storefront to the west contains one large plate glass window and recessed glass and aluminum door. Until recently this was a pharmacy and a blue and orange neon sign above the door advertises "Waltz Rexall Drugs".¹ The next bay, which is located at the center of the block, contains the main door and stairs to the second floor offices. The glass and aluminum door is recessed from the façade, but flanking the entrance are a pair of pilasters supporting a denticulated entablature. The next three bays contain a central, recessed bay with angled side doors set between sets of large plate glass windows. The final bay contains a glass and wood door set into a recessed, compass-headed opening in the brick wall. On the second floor are seven sets of paired six-over-six windows; each pair share a set of louvered wooden shutters.

Damariscotta Bank and Trust Company, 1973

Non-contributing Building

100 Main Street

Labeled as #2 in the original inventory this relatively recent building was erected to house the offices, vault and service areas of the Damariscotta Bank and Trust. It is located on the north side of Main Street and faces south. The building is set back from the sidewalk and two rectangular garden plots flank a paved walk leading to the front door. On the east the building is adjacent to a narrow driveway that fits tightly between the bank and the brick block to the south. This driveway leads both to a parking lot behind the building and the rear entrance. This drive then turns west then south before it splits into two lanes to access the drive-up teller window and then returns to Main Street. The teller window and ATM are located under a sidegable asphalt roof supported on wooden columns.

The Colonial Revival Style building is two stories high with a gable-front roof. The exterior is clad in brick (running bond) with decorative quoins on the front corners. The first floor is two bays wide: to the west is a copper-roofed, multi-paned bay window. Beside this is a gable-roof entry porch which leads to a glass and aluminum main door. This door is flanked by plate-glass side-lights and set in a somewhat truncated entablature featuring dentils and narrow, fluted pilasters. On the second floor are four window bays with eight-over-eight double hung sash. The windows have a simple lintel of soldier course bricks and brick sills. Directly under the peak of the room is a small octagonal window. Wooden rake trim, soffit, eaves and cornice returns complete the exterior features.

Statement of Significance Summary Paragraph

(Provide a summary paragraph that includes level of significance, applicable criteria, justification for the period of significance, and any applicable criteria considerations.) (Refer to photographs)

This National Register of Historic Places nomination is to present additional information clarifying the period of significance for the Main Street Historic District in the Lincoln County town of Damariscotta, Maine, which was listed in the National Register of Historic Places on August 10, 1979. This linear district focused on twenty-five commercial or commercial/residential buildings that line Main Street, many constructed after a fire in 1845, often in brick. The period of significance for this district was given as 1800-1899, and an inventory list was included with the nomination. This inventory list included as "contributing to the character of the district" two buildings erected in the 20th century. On January 22, 2001 a boundary expansion for the district was entered into the Register. This expansion, which moved eastward on Main Street, captured three, already listed individual buildings as well as six new contributing and one non-contributing buildings. As a part of that documentation the period of significance was amended to include 1754, the date of construction of an early house. At that time Politics/Government was added to Architecture and Commerce as an area of significance. In order to clarify the status of the two twentieth-century buildings, this documentation amends the period of significance to run from 1800 – 1948, as well as to include the 1754 date previously mentioned.

Narrative Statement of Significance (Provide at least one paragraph for each area of significance.)

When the original Main Street Historic District was prepared in 1979 a somewhat conflicting period of significance was established. In Section 8 the period indicated was 1800-1899. However, in Section 7 two of the twenty-four inventoried resources as "contributing to the character of the district" were built in the 20th century. The first building is the 1948 Professional Building. This large, two-story Colonial Revival style structure has three commercial storefronts on the first floor and several professional offices on the second floor. The second building is the 1973 Damariscotta Bank & Trust Company. This free-standing structure was also designed in the Colonial Revival style and constructed of brick. The building houses the bank and the bank's offices. Their inclusion in the district was justified by stating "20th – century construction has been very careful to seek compatibility in scale and materials with the older buildings. (A circa 1934 gas station was identified as non-contributing, in part because it was not positioned in line with the other buildings at the edge of the street, and in part due to its rather industrial appearance.) At the time of listing, the bank was only six years old and the Professional Building was just thirty years old. Although included within the boundary of the historic district, it is unclear whether either or both of these buildings were intended to be considered as contributing to the historic district, and thus are listed in the National Register.

Thirty-four years have passed since the original nomination and the Professional Building is now in its sixth decade. With the passage of time it is has become clear that the Professional Building has significance within the area of commerce, and is a contributing resource within the district. Indeed, it is the only mid-century commercial block within the historic district.

On July 19th, 1943, a serious fire occurred on Water Street, eventually spreading north to Main Street and destroying six buildings and seriously damaging seven others. Four of the destroyed buildings were residential structures, one was a commercial garage and the last was a brick block on Main Street that housed the local newspaper. The fire essentially cleared the north end of Main Street adjacent to Water Street; nearly all of the buildings in this vicinity post-date the fire. The Professional Building was built after the fire on the land formerly associated with the Howard Hall house. This nineteenth century frame residence was located approximately 100 feet east of the 1857 W. M. Hilton Block. The availability of this open space, combined with the former house site offered the opportunity to construct a large commercial structure on Main Street.

Among the first tenants were Waltz Pharmacy and the First National Store (Finast Grocery) which both opened on August 19 1948. That day the newspaper ran a two page spread covering the opening of the new grocery store, with the headline "First Super-Market in Town, with the Latest in Food Shopping Facilities, Will Attract Shoppers from Near and Far". The large store, which occupied over 3,900 square feet on the bottom floor included a refrigerated dairy, fish and meat department and frozen food section. This represents a significant modernization of Damariscotta's down town – the local A&P closed within the year-but the location, curbside on Main Street, was a continuation of the traditional siting of the town's commercial markets and businesses.

Historic postcards from the second decade of the twentieth century in the collection of the Penobscot Marine Museum, Searsport, Maine indicate that a large, three story, six bay commercial block (Austin Block), once occupied the site of the Damariscotta Bank and Trust building. This block burned in December of 1959. At this time it is not known whether the bank, which was built in 1973 was the next building to occupy the site. The bank has not yet hit the 50 year mark, and while it has some of the characteristics of the other downtown commercial structures its siting and side-drive through mark it as a more modern building. In order to avoid confusion in the future, the end of the period of significance for the Main Street Historic District is set at 1948, in order to include the Professional Building. This additional documentation does not preclude further amendment after the bank reaches the 50 year mark in 2023. Until that time, and subsequent evaluation of its significance, the Damariscotta Bank and Trust building is non-contributing resource in the historic district.

William J. Murtagh Keeper of the National Register, U.S.Dept. of the Interior Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Murtagh,

I could not be happier that the Main Street area of Damariscotta is to become a Historic District, and including listing in the National Register.

The nomination is well deserved, and I am sincerely hopeful the nomination will be confirmed and the National Register listing completed.

I have contributed what effort I was able to assist in making this possible when the Maine Historic Preservation Commission was working on the plan, which included some information relating to specific buildings and also to the general background. In addition I was able to maxange a public showing of a program given by the Preservation Commission, on the historic buildings in the County, and specifically of the buildings included in the Main Street Historic District.

In addition I talked personally with every property owner but one, the only one out of 3 non-resident property owners whom I did not see-- but this one was also contacted by letter. I can write that I found no-one who was not in favor of the proposal, and I am happy to say, many were quite enthusiastic.

My hope now is that the District can be expanded, for the very next building East was constructed in 1803a very handsome house with some good detail inside and out- a clapboard $2\frac{1}{2}$ story house, now used as a Public Library. The second house from it was also very earlyprobably 1815-20; and the next, 1830- next 1830-40 and after one-- a house already on the National Register, the Chapman-Hall House, 1854-- one of Maine's earliest &(few) remaining houses of the 18th century. Across from that, a church with Greek-revival portico and tower, 1845--A fire destroyed fine brick and wooden business blocks and houses on the South side of the street, now replaced with more recent buildings-- but only 3, so the unity is not necessarily lost--

38 MAIN STREET DAMARISCOTTA, MAINE 04543

I am certain all property owners will appreciate having the opportunity to comment before the final decision which will place a portion of Damariscotta's Main Street on the National Register of Historic Places-

I am looking forward to an announcement which will confirm this --- and I am grateful to the Maine Historic Preservation Commission, whose officers made possible the nomination, and who devoted time, thought and effort toward implementing and completing the application.

Thank you for your letter, to inform me and other property owners of this very desirable designation for Damariscotta's Main Street.

Yours very sincerely reuis alibille Grévis W. Melville

DAMARISCOTTA (REGION)

Issued by

The "Twin Villages"

Damariscotta and Newcastle, the "Twin Villages" are ideally located near the head of the Damariscotta River, twelve miles from the ocean. These typical New England towns are the trading center for Lincoln County. Many excellent and modern stores and Specialty Shops offer facilities and services to meet every need. A riverfront municipal parking area makes shopping convenient. A boatyard still carries on the tradition of ship building, and visiting craft will find dock space at the new State and Municipal Landing, and Boat Ramp, with moorings available from the Harbor Master. The villages boast splendid churches, fine schools, a modern Class A hospital, and a public library. Both towns were included in the Pemaquid Patent of 1629 and contain many beautiful houses and buildings of the Colonial period. A unique feature of interest are the oyster shell heaps along the river which record the Indian gatherings through untold centurics.

Forms of Recreation

For golfers, the greens of the Wawenock Country Club are among the finest in the State and leave nothing to be desired. Tennis, swimming, riding, salt and fresh water sailing, boating and canoeing (one canoe trip covers fifty miles through both fresh and salt water with only two carries), are available sports. Excursion boats visit the many islands and harbors on regular schedules. The new Pemaquid Beach Park development, including bath-houses, and food concession, and the Lighthouse Park area with its superb marine view, both parks in-

WELCOME!

Welcome to the "Twin Villages" and a region of widely diversified attractions — pine-bordered lakes, shady forests, tidal rivers, protected harbors, sandy beaches and rock-bound coast — a region with an historical background dating back to Weymouth's first visit to the Maine coast in 1605.

Christmas Cove

cluding picnic facilities, are maintained by the Town of Bristol. New (1972) Fisherman's Museum at Lighthouse Park, opposite Art Gallery. Small mouthed black bass and land-locked salmon, trout, pickerel, perch and other fresh water fish are found in the numerous ponds and streams. The ocean offers tuna, cod, haddock and other deep sea fish. (Fishing through the ice for smelts and pickerel, and the alewife run in May are events never to be forgotten).

In season, deer, fox, partridge, woodcock, pheasant and duck lure the hunter through woodlands of incomparable splendor. And the motorist is never at a loss for delightful drives through scenery of unspoiled and ever-changing beauty.

Bowling, first-run movies, Summer Theatre, rifle matches, square and modern dancing round out the recreation possibilities.

Educational Jacilities

The many summer camps for boys and girls in this territory are eloquent proof of the fine surroundings. Complementing these camps is the widely known Ecology Workshop, the Audubon Workshop in Maine, located on the Todd Wildlife Sanctuary, Hog Island, Muscongus Bay, sponsored by the National Audubon Society. The Mainland Visitor Center is open 2:30 p.m. -5:00 p.m., Tuesday - Saturday. In Walpole, the Ira C. Darling Center, Marine Laboratory of the University of Maine at Orono, houses the graduate school's Department of Oceanography. A slide presentation, open to the public is offered during the summer months on Friday at 2:00 p.m.

Points of Interest

Are many and varied, ranging from the Lighthouse Tower over the rocks of Pemaquid to the panoramic view of Damariscotta Lake from Bunker Hill. Numerous lakes and ponds, unmarred by man, dot the region — scenic fishing and yachting harbors break the impressive coast line. Wooded islands on both occan and lake offer haven, and each section of the territory possesses its own indescribable charm. The Walpole Church, Alna Church, German and Harrington Churches all 18th Century buildings (called Meeting Houses) are among the oldest Church buildings in New England; St. Patrick's Church at Damariscotta Mills is the oldest Catholic Church in Maine, and New England.

A new State Park at Pemaquid Beach includes Fort William Henry and Round Tower (1692), guardian of one of the first settlements on the New England coast, and Pemaquid Restoration, archeological diggings and Museum.

Damariscotta Lake State Park, Rte. #32 in Jefferson, provides lake swimming with excellent beach, picnic sites, parking.

Accommodations

Include small resort hotels, quiet, restful inns, sporting camps on lakes, motels, guest houses, cottage groups either daily and/or housekeeping. Rates at inns and hotels are from ten to twenty-four dollars daily, including separate cottages with hotel service. Motel and other daily rates from four dollars per person to fifteen dollars.
