

Marine Mills, site of the first sawmill in Minnesota. The mill was erected in 1839 by St. Louis parties, and equipped with machinery brought by the steamer Fayette from Marine, Illinois. The company was first known as the Marine Lumber Company. In 1850, the name was changed to Judd, Walker, & Company; in 1863 the firm became Walker, Judd, & Veazie. In 1886 the mill property was taken over by new firm of Marine Lumber Company. In 1888 it passed into the hands of Anderson & O'Brien. The first logs were cut for this mill on the banks of the Kettle River, in the winter of 1839-40.
