The Somers Mansion was built on a high bluff overlooking Great Egg Harber Bay area 1725. It was built on a tract of land willed to Richard Somers by his father John. It was originally part of a 3,000 acre tract conveyed to his father in 1695.

The original house was enlarged circa 1760 and greatly changed in the late 19th century. It remained in the family until 1937 when it was deeded to the Atlantic County Historical Society. In 1941 the structure and one acre of ground was give to the State.

The building is a 22 story brick structure with a gambrel roof oriental in an east west direction. It is on a stone foundation with brick walls. The walls are laid up in a Flemish Bond with glazed headers. There are windows and a door on each floor. They are non-symmetrical along the north and south side of the building. The east and west side lack windows or doors.

There were two rooms on each floor of the original building. The western rooms on each floor had a large fireplace, a closet and a concealed stairway.

Most of the paneling brick work and floor are original. The balcony at the second floor level and all the window sash were replaced as part of a restoration program in the late 1930's.

The restored building is now in a very commercial area adjacent to the causeway that connects Somers Point with Ocean City.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Somers Mansion is significant for its architecture and as the ancestral home of the Somers Family.

The Somers Mansion is the oldest house now standing in Atlantic County (incorporated 1837). It was built circa 1725 for Richard Somers I. The first historical reference to the house is from 1726, when the house was used as a Quaker meeting. Its gambrel roof and Flemish Bond exterior are unusual for the Southern New Jersey area. The building has Historic American Building Survey citation.

The Somers family migrated to Philadelphia in 1681 and to West Jersey in 1695. John Somers owned over 3,000 acres and operated the first ferry across Great Egg Harbor Bay. His descendents Richard I, Richard II and Richard III are all notables in New Jersey history. Richard II was a judge and colonel in the New Jersey militia during the American Revolution. Richard III was a naval hero at the Battle of Tripoli. He was Commander of the Nautilus when he was killed in 1804.
